

Police say they have no motive

Drop-out student charged in woman's murder

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

Police on Monday could not offer any explanation for the senseless stabbing death of a 68-year-old babysitter early Saturday night in a Romulus townhouse apartment. Arraigned Monday in 34th District Court on first degree murder was David E. Parson, 18, whose family occupies an apartment behind the one in which the slaying occurred in the Oakbrook Apartments at 30573 Redwood Ln.

Det. Frank Burton of the Wayne County Sheriff's Dept. could offer no motive for the slaying of Helen Filipkowski, who died minutes after multiple stab wounds were inflicted to her body. Parson dropped out of classes from Romulus High after reaching the ninth grade. Although Parson Monday asked for an attorney, police reported he could not understand why he was being locked up and appeared to be disoriented. According to the investigation carried out by Burton and Det. Ed Lindberg, Mrs. Filipkowski was babysitting two young children for her neighbor, Mrs. Kyoko (Kay) Leininger, who worked at a restaurant in Farmington Hills. Shortly after 7 p.m., Burton said Parson was admitted to the Leininger apartment by Mrs. Filipkowski after the youth had asked for "Kay". According to information supplied by the oldest Leininger child, Jay, 6, Parson asked the babysitter to drive him to a store to get a check cashed. "From what the boy told us, Mrs.

Filipkowski appeared to be afraid of him (Parson) and offered to give $5," said Burton. "But, Parson refused the offer." The detective said Parson then asked for a glass of water and Mrs. Filipkowski said "okay". During this discussion, she had been carrying on a telephone conversation. After finishing with the call, she went into the kitchen where Parson was, he said. The young Leininger, whom Burton said provided valuable assistance with his recollection of what happened, said at this point he heard "grandma" scream during an argument and ran into the kitchen. "He told us that the 'old lady' had blood all over and on her hands and that Parson had blood on his hands also," reported Burton. Mrs. Filipkowski then staggered to the front room, told Jay and his sister, 2, to go next door to 'Jean's house' and collapsed on the sofa. By this time, Parson had left the apartment, Burton said. The detective said Jay went next door to an apartment occupied by Gloria Main and said, "Pat's big boy killed grandma." His mother ran over to the Leininger apartment, found Mrs. Filipkowski dead, and called the police, the detective said. About an hour later, Parson's mother, Patricia Parson, called police and turned her son in, said Burton. According to his mother, the accused slayer had left home early Saturday morning and had not returned until after Mrs. (Continued on Page A-3)

In Romulus and Van Buren

Senior housing is booming

With many senior citizens housing projects springing up across the nation in recent years, area residents are clamoring for such developments with renewed vigor.

Romulus, with the help of federal funds administered through the state, now has Romulus Towers at Bibbins and Shook streets to meet the housing needs of local and area seniors.

In Van Buren Township, seniors there periodically requested a housing complex, prompting the township board to place a proposal on the Nov. 4 ballot seeking citizen approval of the sale of a portion of its park land for such a site.

After the measure received the blessing of township voters, local seniors expected Van Buren to take ...any site...must first be approved by the state...

steps leading to construction of a senior housing development.

But, township officials were quick to point out that the ballot proposal only authorized the sale of 3 to 5 acres of Van Buren Park for use as the site of such development, not for its actual construction.

Before any site can be used for a senior housing project, it must first be approved by the state agency through which the township or city hopes to secure federal funding to build it. In recent years, several sites have been turned down in Van Buren for a variety of reasons, dampening hopes of area seniors for a home of their own.

Last month, another possibility came to light when Belleville Mayor Justin Emerson disclosed that a Hazlett realtor had expressed interest in renovating the old Belvil Community Hospital for a senior citizen housing complex.

Also, Emerson said, the realtor cited the possibility of tearing down the old structure to make way for a new building.

When contacted, the realtor said he planned to discuss the project with a developer and hoped to have an architect come to inspect the old hospital.

One thing is certain. Area seniors in Van Buren, Sumpter and Huron township and Belleville want more housing for themselves and, in most instances, their spouses, and are urging their elected officials to get the ball rolling to build such units.

How many such developments would be necessary to house area seniors seems to be unanswered at this time. Creation of an area-wide committee, including seniors in its complement, possibly could be appointed to review and study such needs.

Subsequent recommendations then could be made to the governing bodies of the various communities involved.

The coming year of 1981 could very well be the time that such needed projects get off the drawing boards and begin to take shape.

City studies full-time police force

Will the city of Romulus form its own police department in 1981? Such very well could be the case, depending upon how Wayne County Sheriff William Lucas comes out in his lawsuit against the county Board of Commissioners.

The 1981 budget adopted by the county board cut out funds for the sheriff's patrol and investigation (P & I) division, which includes officers assigned to provide contractual police protection services to Romulus.

But, Lucas contends he has a legal obligation to provide not only those contractual services, also a constitutional mandate to provide but those on a non-contractual basis to unincorporated areas of the county.

To that end, he has pledged to continue contractual police protection services to Romulus and has filed suit against the county board.

Should he be forced to do so, Lucas said he will take deputies assigned to the Wayne County Jail and put them on patrol in Romulus.

Legal experts speculate the case could drag on for two to three years in the courts. Under the old contract with Romulus, which has been extended while a new pact is being worked out, the sheriff is obligated to give a year's notice.

Should he be forced to give that notice and terminate police protection to the community by his deputies, Romulus in turn would be put into the position of forming its own police force.

On more than one occasion, Mayor William M. Oakley has said flatly that Romulus could not establish such a police unit in less than a year's time. Major obstacle to creating a new police department is where money would come from to pay for additional costs.

Most city officials feel that it would cost more for the city to operate its own police department than to contract with the county for the use of sheriff's deputies and patrol cars.

Without police protection, Romulus and its approximately 25,000 inhabitants would be at the mercy of ever-spiraling crime.

Teachers' reduce salary demands

The union representing teachers in the Van Buren school district has reduced its salary demands in current contract talks, according to Supt. Elvin Peets.

Peets said the reduced wage increases were presented Dec. 8 at the last session of the teachers union and school board with the state mediator.

"It would not be fair for me not to mention that the teachers union has come down on its salary demands," said the superintendent.

Dr. Peets explained that the Wayne County MEA/NLA is now seeking a salary increase of a straight 13 percent for last school year and 13 percent, including cost of living allowance, for this school

Cable TV

Panel may ask for consultant

A newly-appointed 13-member committee last night was scheduled to ask Romulus City Council to hire a cable television consultant to aid it in drafting a cable TV ordinance and is selecting a company to build the local system.

Slated to make the presentation were Supt. of Schools William Bedell, Pete Silveri, and Dennis Davidson, all members of the new committee.

Treasurer Beverly McAnally, who serves as committee chairman, said the consultant is needed because of the complexity of the cable TV field, recent Supreme Court ruling concerning local access channels, future consequences of cable TV installation now, and assistance in preparing an ordinance that will protect the community's interests.

Also scheduled on last night's agenda was receipt by council of a copy of the city's editorial response to criticisms made recently by television newscaster Bill Bonds about the city's contract with Wayne County Sheriff's Dept.

Bonds rapped Romulus for not paying its full contractual charges for police protection services provided by the sheriff and charging that the rest of the county was subsidizing those services.

Copies of the city's answer were sent to Bonds and other news media sources by Clerk Leonard J. Folmar at the direction of council.

COMMENTARY

DetRo proposed sludge plant- is it an asset or detriment?

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

A detriment or an asset?

That is the question that will have to be answered during the coming year by both elected officials, residents of Romulus and the courts in the case of DetRo Recovery Products.

The Detroit company is seeking to build a sludge composting plant in the community that will transform human and industrial sludge into commercial fertilizer. The sludge comes into Detroit from 76 smaller communities, including Romulus.

Since DetRo first proposed its sewage sludge plant, a storm of controversy has swirled around its possible construction. Scores of citizens showed up at council meetings to protest the plant, primarily because of anticipated bad odors and health hazards.

But, some residents and city officials feel the plant could be a financial boon to the city. If the city can realize a yearly source of revenue from the venture, the incoming monies would be welcome in the sparse financial coffers of Romulus.

Opposition from the city's Planning Commission subsequently prompted DetRo to file two lawsuits against the community. The first is an appeal of the planning body's ruling that M-1 light industrial zoning on a 133-acre parcel of land wanted by DetRo southwest of Ecorse Road and the C & ? Railroad is not suitable for the sludge compost operation. A second suit seeks a judge's ruling to have the city accept the company's preliminary site plan for a 38-acre parcel of land immediately east of city hall.

The Planning Commission ruled that M-2 heavy industrial zoning would be required for the larger site. When DetRo presented its site plan approval request on the M-2 zoned smaller site, the Planning Commission said it was rough and incomplete and that the city had no standards for sludge composting.

Since then, a Wayne County Circuit Court judge ordered an adjournment of the case until Jan. 9, at which time the city agreed to come up with new standards for sludge composting operations within its M-2 zoning.

Several obstacles confront the eventual construction of such a plant:

1) Some local members of a tour sponsored by DetRo to a smaller similar operation in Maryland are now against it because of the odors and other objectionable aspects of the operation;

2) Approval must be obtained from local, county, state and

WCCC settles with Dr. Wilson

Toward the goal of putting an end to the last eight months of its administrative turmoil, the Board of Trustees of Wayne County Community College has appointed a new permanent president, as well as agreed to settlement terms with former chief executive officer, Dr. Reginald Wilson.

Seven months to the day of the Trustee's firing of Wilson last May, the seven-person Board voted Dec.

to appoint Detroit Deputy Mayor Richard Simmons, Jr. as president of WCCC.

The board selection, made after considerable deliberation and minor controversy surrounding appropriate candidates for the key institutional position, was made on a six-to-one basis, with six members endorsing Simmons as their choice and one opposing vote.

The "no" vote was cast by District

VII (Western Wayne County) Trustee James R. McCartney of Westland. In terms of the letter recommendation, Trustee McCartney supported the nomination of Dr. Judith Eaton, President of Clark Community College in Las Vegas.

In addition to its selection of the college's new president, the Board of Trustees also consented to meeting settlement demands made by ousted President Reginald Wilson, who launched a $9 million damages suit against the institution and specific trustees who approved his termination.

The settlement agreed to by the Board consists of a mutually agreed upon series of terms made between Wilson, his attorney and WCCC officials. Approved as a means of allowing the college to sign an undisputed contract with Richard Simmons as new president, the terms of the Wilson settlement stipulate several points:

- Monetary settlement of $230,000 in reparation costs to Wilson;
- An agreement from the WC3 Board to rewrite their meeting minutes of May 28 to indicate that Reginald Wilson resigned, and was not fired in the face of charges of administrative and financial irregularities;
- Mutual agreement between

Wilson and WCCC that neither party shall say anything derogatory about the other;

- That Wilson and the college will draft a "mutually satisfactory" letter of reference to be sent by the college to the former's prospective employers;
- That New Detroit Incorporated, which has served as a sort of Who'll win franchises?

Cable TV remains 'The Question' in area

Among issues facing area communities in the coming year will be weighty decisions on which company should build cable television systems for them.

Although Sumpter and Van Buren townships have chosen Comcast of Bala-Cynwyd, Pa. as the company to construct the new entertainment medium for their areas, cable TV is bogged down in Huron Township and the cities of Belleville and Romulus.

However, all is not calm in Sumpter, where a new incoming township board is making noises that it might rescind the previous board's action in awarding a cable TV franchise to Comcast.

Currently, the board and newly-appointed township attorney are studying the issue and the legality of rescinding earlier action by the old board.

Compounding the important decision of which cable TV firm to select is recent publicity surrounding questionable pressures and practices being employed by some companies seeking franchises whose yield to them over the years will amount to millions of dollars in revenue.

These tactics include using prominent former and current elected officials and townspeople to front for the companies in return for reported considerations ranging from money to part interest in local cable TV operations.

Some of the cable TV firms have defended such policies by saying that they are commonplace and are also being used by many of their competitors across the nation.

Since election of the new township board in Huron, nothing has been reported as developing on the cable TV issue. Late last year, two hearings at which presentations were to be made by several cable TV companies were postponed.

Belleville and Romulus are being actively solicited by both Comcast and Omnicom of Plymouth. Comcast would like to include both communities in the system it will build for Sumpter and Van Buren, helping it to keep construction costs down and to offer subscribers lower monthly rates and extra services in an overall system.

Omnicom, a fledgling company owned by Capital Cities, Inc. of Bloomfield Hills, owners of radio station WJR and the Oakland Press newspaper, is making a concerted effort to land franchises in Belleville and Romulus after losing out in Sumpter and Van Buren.

Some officials in the latter two townships are reported to be leaning toward Omnicom, who has established a system in neighboring Plymouth.

Cable TV, with channel capability now reaching up to 55 channels for basic services and home movies and sports events on premium services, is spreading in popularity throughout the nation.

Its basic monthly rate of about $7-8 for basic services and a similar fee for premium services is much cheaper than the approximately $25 a month being charged for single-channel systems employing a decoder to unscramble a signal for programs not telecast on regular channels.

Many observers feel that once established in the Detroit metropolitan area, cable TV will put the decoded channel systems out of business in short order.

In addition, cable TV will offer subscribers an alert-type service for a monthly charge that will notify proper agencies in event of a house breakin, a medical emergency or a fire.

Officials in area communities are reporting more and more calls from residents asking when cable TV will be available. If the cable TV issue is resolved in Sumpter soon, residents there and in Van Buren, according to Comcast's earlier predictions, could be enjoying the new medium by the end of this year.

Before 1981 gets too far along, elected officials in Belleville, Romulus and Huron most likely will begin to feel the pressure of constituents clamoring for them to make a decision on obtaining cable TV for their communities.

Omnicom loses Raines

JOHN RAINES

Omnicom of Plymouth, the cable television subsidiary of Capital Cities, Inc. of Bloomfield Hills, has lost its president.

According to Gary Voelker, controller for the giant communications conglomerate, John Raines, Omnicom president, two weeks ago made a decision with Capital Cities "not to maintain operation of the company (Omnicom)".

Voelker also confirmed that Jeff Dorn, Omnicom vice-president, had left the company recently on his own volition.

Asked about a news tip that Raines had been forced out by Capital Cities, Voelker issued a flat denial. "It is not true that Mr. Raines sold out. He reached the decision on his own."

Voelker said Peter Newell, who previously had served as general manager for one of several radio stations owned by Capital Cities, has been named to head Omnicom by the parent firm. He said Raines' decision was effective at the end of 1980, but that he would continue working with Omnicom.

Since January of 1980, Omnicom has been a partially-owned subsidiary of Capital Cities, which among its holdings owns radio station WJR in Detroit and the Oakland Press newspaper.

Who said people don't like to get involved?

Michael Bannoura (at right) presents a check for $1,000 to members of Fire Station No. 3 in Huron Township, Sibley and Middlebelt roads, across the road from Mid-Sibley Party Store which he owns and operates. Bannoura raised funds by asking that coffee drinkers donate to a jar on the sales counter whose proceeds would go to

Humanitarian

Local businessman goes out of way to help people

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

Each time he saw firemen at Fire Station No. 3 climb on their engines across from his party store in New Boston, Michael Bannoura felt part of himself go with them.

Wanting so much to be with them, at least in spirit, the Arab-American dreamed up a humanitarian project that enabled him to do just that.

Bannoura, 35, placed a jar on the sales counter at his Mid-Sibley Party Store, Sibley and Middlebelt roads in New Boston. Everyone who drank coffee at his store could contribute money that he in turn would turn over to the firemen across the street.

Last year, according to Fire Chief Frank Marvaso, the $750 that Bannoura gave his station was enough to purchase a set of used pneumatic pants for victims suffering from shock.

"The pneumatic pants are put on a person from the feet to the waist and helps drive the blood back to the vital parts of the body, thereby reducing the effects of shock," explained the fire chief.

This year, Bannoura would have had more than $1,200 to give to his firemen friends across the road, but this jar containing about $250 was stolen one night. However, the approximate $1,000 left enabled Fire Station No. 3 to buy an air bag rescue and lifting system that lifts heavy objects off persons rapidly and with little or no damage to them, said Marvaso.

The fire chief could not say enough about Bannoura and his generosity towards his fellow man in the Huron Township community.

"He's a perfect gentleman," declared Marvaso. "I consider him my friend. He has done more for the community than anyone I know."

Although Bannoura lives in Canton Township and commutes daily to his store, his heart is in the New Boston-Huron Township community, said the fire chief.

"At Christmas time, he went out and bought several turkeys and hams, things that his store didn't handle, and gave them to needy families on his own," said Marvaso.

"He's a wonderful person," exclaimed the fire chief.

His words were echoed by Huron Township Sup. Richard F. Sullivan.

"Mr. Bannoura watched the firemen answer calls with the emergency van at no charge and for no pay," explained Sullivan. "He saw the good they were doing and he wanted to become a part of it."

Sullivan explained that the volunteer firemen receive no pay for emergency calls, only for fire calls.

"He saw their dedication and, being a compassionate and generous person, he thought up a way to help them and the community in which he made his living," Sullivan said.

That's how the jar on the counter in Bannoura's party store got started and is continuing to raise funds for Fire Station No. 3.

"Everytime those firemen go out on a call, a part of Bannoura goes with them now," the supervisor said. "Now, he feels that he is part of the whole scene."

"The people of this community are really indebted to him because of his civic minded attitude," emphasized Sullivan.

Bannoura, who first came to this country in 1969, said his idea for a jar on the sales counter came to him as his way of helping the community.

His birthplace in old Palestine is the same as that for the person who hundreds of millions of people the world over revere and worship — Bethlehem, where Jesus Christ reportedly was born in a manger.

Bannoura learned English in his native schools and earned a college degree in business administration from Bethlehem College. After coming to the United States, he took post graduate courses in business administration at Michigan State University.

His wife, Delila, helps him at the store. The couple have three children — Amad, Riad and Nehad.

Bannoura worked in the automobile plants in Pontiac for a year and a half when he first arrived in the U.S. After that, he operated grocery stores in Union Lake and Romeo for about six years, followed by running a store in the Virgin Islands for another two years.

He and his family moved to Canton in 1979 and he opened his party store in Huron in August of that year.

Fire Chief Marvaso recalled when Bannoura first opened his doors and the apprehension of some of his friends toward the foreign born store owner. He cautioned them to wait and see before making up their minds about someone they did not know.

Today, Bannoura has his reward — no one knows or cares what he is. They like him for who he is and what he does.

Bannoura said when he first came to this country, people whom he met could not believe that he was reared as a Christian.

More Americans than ever today because of the Middle East prominence in world events are aware that many Arabs in Lebanon and those living in Israeli-occupied lands are members of either the Christian and Islam religions.

The Arab-American's outlook towards others is exemplified best by himself.

"I attended the Christmas party this year at the fire station for little children," he said. "When I saw a child's face when he received a present, tears came to my eyes."

Perhaps that is why Bannoura says, "I want to help anyone who needs help."

By giving of himself, this Arab-American has earned the respect, admiration and love of his fellow Americans.

federal agencies before the plant could be built;

3) Legality of the city receiving annual payments for such an operation must be determined;

4) Although DetRo first offered yearly revenues ranging from $150,000 to over $1 million, whether the company will actually come up with any revenue of its own volition remains questionable at this time;

5) Mystery surrounding exactly who DetRo's financial backers are and any possible connection with political decisions made in Detroit to bail that city out of its sewage disposal problems.

As cited in earlier news stories, many observers believe that DetRo has no intention of putting its proposed sludge plant near city hall, but is using it as a threat to force the city to let it be built on the first proposed larger land parcel.

In any event, the answers to many of the above questions are expected to determine whether the plant will be constructed in Romulus.

If so, will it be with city approval or by order of the courts?

Omnicom, which last year opened cable TV operations in Plymouth and has franchises in Plymouth and Canton townships, has been seeking to build similar systems in Van Buren, Sumpter and Huron townships and the cities of Belleville and Romulus.

Voelker gave no other reasons for the stepdown by Raines or what influence the change in leadership would have on Omnicom's operations in the area.

Murder suspect is arraigned

Filipkowski had been slain, the detective said.

"He (Parson) gave his mother a cock-and-bull story about a friend of his who had killed an old lady," said the detective. "He (Parson) went to a friend's house to get rid of a jacket that was saturated with blood."

Burton said Parson's hands were cut, possibly from the folding pocket knife described by the six-year-old boy and from a broken glass which police speculate the victim may have used to defend herself.

"Her hands bore defensive wounds of the kind made when a person attempts to shield themselves," Burton said.

Burton said Monday that a search had failed to turn up the murder weapon.

Brrrrrr...it's cold outside

Although no one needs these drops of frost-bitten water to remind us that it's cold outside, the weather bureau wants you to know that it's unseasonably cold. In fact Sunday's 12-below zero constituted a state record and the area has now had more snow than it did all year last year.

The last Canton auto fatality of 1980 took place on Dec. 29 when this 1972 Datsun slid on snow-covered Van Buren Road and slammed into an oncoming pickup truck. Dawn Waterman, 6, of Canton, who was in the passenger seat, was killed in the crash. Her father, David Waterman, 26, who was driving the car, suffered several cuts, according to police. condition of the County this year."

Turner added: "By Wayne County not paying its dues this year, I would conclude that means the County is withdrawing from future participation in the affairs of SEMCOG."

"It is my position that Wayne County be placed on an inactive status with respect to the privileges of membership until such time as we are in a position to meet the financial commitment of dues-paying members."

Canton girl, 6, is killed in auto-truck crash

A six-year-old Canton girl was the last auto fatality of 1980 in Canton Township when the car in which she was riding fish-tailed and slid into an oncoming pick-up truck in a 3-inch snowfall, police said.

Killed in the 10:20 a.m. collision on Dec. 29 was Dawn Waterman. The car she was in, a 1972 Datsun driven by her father, David Waterman, 26, 42750 Yost Road, Canton, hit a slippery spot on Van Buren Road just east of Morton-Taylor Road in Van Buren Township.

According to police, the car slid out of control and crossed the center stripe before ploughing sideways into the eastbound truck driven by Alan Lamoreaux, 28, of Lemontree Apartments in Van Buren Township.

Waterman sustained several cuts but Lamoreaux was not injured, police said.

John Nichols, an off-duty fire fighter from Dearborn Heights, was at the scene when the accident occurred and began administering cardio-pulmonary resuscitation (CPR) to Dawn immediately.

Canton Fire Chief Mel Paulun and Canton Patrolman Leonard Schemanske both arrived within four minutes and assisted in administering CPR to the young girl, who was pronounced dead at 10:58 a.m. by doctors at Wayne County General Hospital.

"The 3-inch snowfall made the road extremely slippery and treacherous," said Det. Ed Rasmussen of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department. "Lamoreaux tried to avoid striking the sliding Datsun, but was unable to do so."

Others assisting the Canton Rescue Squad after the accident were Cpl. Bill Hunter of Wayne County Sheriff's Department, who helped Rasmussen investigate the case, and Canton patrolmen Daniel Antieau and Gordon Stevens.

THE FACTS about Check 'n Earn

THE CHECKING ACCOUNT THAT PAYS YOU INTEREST

Now, Wyandotte Savings Bank offers you a new idea in money management. It's called Check 'n Earn—a checking account that combines the convenience of a traditional checking account with the earning power of a savings account.

Q. How does Check 'n Earn work?

A. Just like any other checking account, except Check 'n Earn also pays you interest on your checking funds — money that never earned interest before.

Q. How is the interest computed?

A. WSB pays you 5.25% annual interest, compounded continuously and paid monthly, for an effective annual yield of 5.47% on your Check 'n Earn funds. No bank or any other financial institution will pay you more on this kind of account.

Q. Are there any service charges?

A. As long as you keep an average monthly balance of $1,500 in your Check 'n Earn account, it is free. Here is the fee structure:

If your average monthly balance is:	Your monthly service charge is:
$1,500 and above	FREE
$1,000 to $1,499	$3.00
$500 to $999	$4.00
$0 to $499	$5.00

Regardless of your Check 'n Earn balance, you'll never stop earning interest or have to pay deposit fees or check processing fees.

Q. What other advantages does Check 'n Earn have?

A. Check 'n Earn gives you back your cancelled checks each month along with an itemized statement showing your interest earned. Your Check 'n Earn account is also protected by 109 years of WSB experience and is insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation up to $100,000.

Q. How soon can I get Check 'n Earn?

A. Right now at any WSB office.

For more information on Check 'n Earn interest-paying checking accounts, please call or stop by your nearest WSB office. Another money saving idea from the bank that gives you MasterCard and Visa with no annual fee.

Airman Harris returns from Indian Ocean maneuvers

Navy Aviation Structural Mechanic Airman Brian R. Harris, son of Alvin N. and Elizabeth M. Harris of 44164 Robson Road, Belleville, has returned from a deployment in the Indian Ocean.

He is a member of Carrier Airborne Early Warning Squadron 121, based at the Naval Air Station, Norfolk, Va. While deployed his squadron was embarked aboard the aircraft carrier USS Dwight D. Eisenhower and operated with the guided missile cruisers USS South Carolina and USS Virginia as part of the Eisenhower carrier group.

The ships formed the first Atlantic Fleet carrier group to engage in a scheduled, full-scale deployment to the Indian Ocean. After transiting the Atlantic Ocean and rounding the Cape of Good Hope, the carrier group conducted routine operational and training mission with the San Diego based Constellation carrier group.

They participated in three major exercises, Gonzo 3-80" in June, "Multiplex 1-80" in July, and "Beacon Compass 80" in October. The last two were conducted with the royal Navy to practice joint naval operations and demonstrate British interest in the area.

Port visits were made in Singapore and Kenya as the carrier group traveled more than 68,000 miles and conducted air operations for 183 out of 240 days.

Harris joined the Navy in June 1979.

Navy Aviation Electronics Technician 3rd Class Calvin D. Clark, son of Henry F. and Peggie J. Clark of 40700 Judd Road, Belleville, also has returned from deployment in the Indian Ocean.

A 1978 graduate of Huron High School, New Boston, Clark joined the Navy in February 1978.

Navy Ship's Serviceman Seaman Apprentice Shawn A. McDiarmid, son of Gerald R. and Phyllis J. McDiarmid of 16448 Taft, Romulus, was graduated from Basic Ship's Serviceman School.

During the five-week course at the Naval Technical Training Center, Meridian, Miss., students received fundamental instruction on Navy retail operations. They studied the procedures for operating and managing barber, tailor, cobbler and uniform shops commissary stores; soda fountains; and laundry and dry cleaning plants aboard ships and at shore stations.

In addition, they received instruction on requisitioning goods and supplies, inventorying and preparation of related records and financial reports.

A 1978 graduate of Huron High School, New Boston, he joined the Navy in March 1980.

Private Drew Cunningham, son of Mary A. Cunningham of 29 Birch, Belleville, has arrived for duty at Fort Campbell, Ky.

Private Cunningham, an infantryman, was previously assigned at Fort Benning, Ga.

Robert D. Hubbard, 19, son of Shirley Hubbard, 42233 McBride, Belleville, enlisted in the U.S. Air Force today, departing here for six weeks basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.

Following completion of basic, says his recruiter, Staff Sergeant Bernie Schmidt, 28233 Ford Rd., Hubbard has been guaranteed training as an Inventory Management Specialist. Schmidt added that the 1978 graduate of Belleville High School will receive college credit for his Air Force training through the Community College of the Air Force.

Upon graduation from technical training school, Hubbard will be assigned to an Air Force duty station.

WHAT IS THE WIDOWED PERSONS SERVICE?

The Widowed Persons Service is a one-to-one "outreach" program to help persons who have been recently widowed. When a husband or wife dies, sometimes family or friends cannot reach the spouse to help; but often a trained volunteer can help to get the survivor back into the mainstream of life.

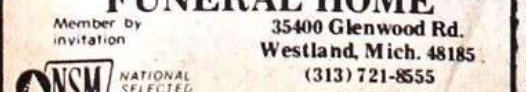

Volunteers are widows or widowers who must attend five training sessions of three hours each. These sessions are taught by a social worker or other professional people. They learn what social agencies can help with specific problems so that they may be enlisted for service, if needed.

The Widowed Persons Service provides a free directory of services for the widowed in the United States and Canada. Free copies of "On Being Alone" and "Your Retirement Widowhood Guide" are available at this address:

Brickley to address 'small businesses'

Series moves to Detroit Plaza

Lt. Governor James H. Brickley will be the keynote speaker at the January 8 Detroit Forum of the Michigan Conference on Small Business.

The Detroit Forum, one of 12 district forums to be held in Michigan, is designed to encourage small and local businesspeople to become involved in the Michigan Statewide Conference on Small Business, scheduled for May of 1981.

Governor Milliken, in announcing the Statewide Conference last May, described it as an opportunity to "explore both the job creation potential of small business and the problems faced by the operators of small business."

Lieutenant Governor Brickley pointed out how numerous were the laws state government enacts which affect small business.

"When enacting legislation, government must take into account the impact on the small business operator", Brickley said. "We must recognize small business as a job creator and the foundation of the entrepreneurial spirit which helped build this state."

"Most importantly", Brickley continued, "this conference is an opportunity for government to listen to the concerns of those running small businesses."

For more information, please feel free to call Mark McKelvey at the Lt. Governor's Office, 517-373-6800.

MAYBE OUR NEW 10% DISCOUNT FOR NON-SMOKING HOMEOWNERS WILL ENCOURAGE PEOPLE NOT TO SMOKE—and, We Think That's Great!

When Citizens Insurance Company of America decided to offer a 10% discount to non-smoking homeowners, our intention was to continue to make homeowners' premiums more cost-efficient for all our policyholders—non-smoking households have fewer fire losses than smoking households, and we felt that fact ought to be reflected in our homeowners' rates.

But, on the other side of the coin, maybe our new 10% discount will encourage some people not to smoke, and we think that's great, too. Stop by your local Citizens Agent today, and ask about the 10% discount for non-smoking homeowners—for more than just the health of it.

The Amateur Photographer

So you received a camera for Christmas...

BY BILL McNEECE

This Christmas many of you received 35mm cameras and became "amateur photographers." Your 110 or 126 tyro camera has been assigned space on the upper shelf of your closet.

But many mysteries must be solved before these new cameras become usable.

"But", you say, "Cheryl and Bruce and the clerk at the camera store told me all I had to do was point and shoot."

Well, you may have an automatic exposure provision in your camera, but you still have to load the film, tell the camera the "speed" of the film, focus the lens, and know when you want to override the automatic exposure system.

Most importantly, it's still up to you to make photographs worth viewing. In the coming weeks I will cover these fundamental but essential procedures.

To take photographs it is first necessary to put film in the camera. And, the film must travel through the camera. Several years ago a friend of mine bought his first 35mm camera. The manufacturer claimed a foolproof "QL" (quick load) system.

My friend loaded the camera and spent a weekend ski-mobiling around Lake Superior-filling his camera with winter-landscape masterpieces.

Gleefully he entered my darkroom for the first time, painfully loaded his film into a developing tank and then developed his roll of black and white film.

The magical moment came when he would see his negatives for the first time. He didn't. Unfortunately the film had never gone through the camera. I know of only one foolproof way to do this seemingly simple but frequently botched operation.

First, open the back of the camera. An upward tug on the rewind knob should cause the back to pop open. If it doesn't, there may be another latch on the left side of the camera. Second, put the film cassette into the vacant space under the rewind knob. Now push the rewind knob down. Most modern 35 mm cameras have a little crank folded into the rewind knob — unfold it.

(Now for the part that guarantees success every time you load your camera). The piece of film protruding from the cassette is called the leader.

Carefully pull it out an inch or two. Invariable there is a small arrow on or close to the crank or rewind knob.

Very slowly turn the knob in the direction indicated by the arrow. Continue turning the rewind crank until the leader begins to retreat back into the cassette. Stop rewinding and return the crank to its resting position. You have taken all of the slack out of the cassette.

When the film moves out of the cassette the rewind knob will always turn. In a sense, you will be able to see the film move through the camera by watching the rewind knob turn.

Next draw the leader across the shutter and insert the tip into the spool on the right side of the camera. You're on your own at this point, since camera manufacturers have varying systems. When the film seems to be firmly established on the take-up spool, close the camera and wind the film while watching the rewind knob. If it is not turning, re-open the camera back and see what the problem is.

Chances are the gear teeth, located just to the left of the spool, have not engaged the perforations along the edges of the film. Wind the film until the numeral "1" appears in the window next to the wind lever. (Some folks attempt to squeeze a few extra frames out of the roll by only advancing the film once and

Pets & Animals

BY Stanley E. Bar-kiewicz, D.V.M.
BARTZ ANIMAL HOSPITAL

Winter is a prime time for accidental chilling in animals.

Pets that are kept indoors are very susceptible to cold weather. They should not be left out in cold weather for prolonged periods of time.

Many dogs can adjust to cold weather if allowed to become accustom to it slowly and if they are protected with an insulated house that faces away from the wind.

Short-haired animals are less protected by nature and care should be taken to provide adequate warmth if they are left outside.

One of the first signs of low body temperature is shivering.

If the body temperature continues to drop, the shivering will stop and the animal will appear to be in a coma.

If your pet is shivering and appears to be chilled, place it in a warm area until the shivering stops and your pet is acting normally. If it has been out in the cold for a long time, your pet should be examined by a veterinarian.

If your pet is in a coma or is extremely cold, you should seek veterinary assistance as soon as possible.

Frostbite can occur by the freezing of a portion of the body. The tail, and legs are the first to be affected.

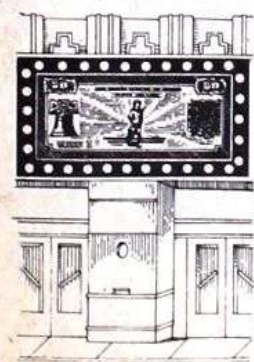

If frostbite is suspected, your pet should be taken to be examined by a veterinarian immediately. The veterinarian will thaw the parts frozen and treat your pet as necessary. If the affected part is thawed, under no circumstances should it be allowed to be refrozen.

Freezing and thawing can cause more damage and it is best to leave the thawing process to the veterinarian.

Frostbite can be a serious problem and requires proper attention and after care. Your pet would need to be placed on antibiotics and the frostbitten area observed for sloughing of dead tissues.

Exposure to cold weather can be life threatening. Accidents can occur and proper attention must be given to your pet if chilling or frostbite is suspected.

Crucial aid to the deaf

There are 40,000 deaf persons in the tri-county area and when an emergency arose in the past there was little the deaf could do but attempt to communicate their fears. Now, thanks to the Telecommunications Device for the Deaf (TDD) the handicapped can type in their problems to the fire or police departments. Stationed before one of the TDD's is a member of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

Sheriff's Department sets up emergency phones for deaf

Wayne County Sheriff William Lucas announced today that his department will be offering emergency telephone service to the 40,000 deaf people in the tri-county area.

In the event a deaf person, from any community, needs police or fire service, they can use a new "Porta-Tel" communication instrument which are now being provided to the deaf.

Sheriff Lucas further stated that his dispatcher would contact the proper police or fire department and advise them that a deaf person needed their service. A permanent typewritten record will be maintained by the Sheriff's Department.

A special telephone number has been set aside for this service - the telephone number is 729-0100 and will be manned 24 hours per day, 7 days per week.

Sheriff Lucas concluded by stating that additional information on service for the deaf can be obtained by calling the "Michigan Association for Better Hearing" in Lansing at 517-337-1646. He further pointed out that the Sheriff's Department equipment is being paid for by donation from several foundations and organizations at a cost of $1,210.

He was previously employed overseas as a contract engineer with Bechtel International, Inc.

Views On[®] Dental Health

By
KENNETH A. FOX, D.D.S.

PERIODONTAL DISEASE - EARLY DIAGNOSIS

You have just completed your regular dental checkup. You breathe a deep sigh of relief. "No cavities, but your gums are in poor shape." You are mistakenly relieved. The sad fact is that more teeth are lost because of periodontal disease (gum disease) than from any other factor, including cavities.

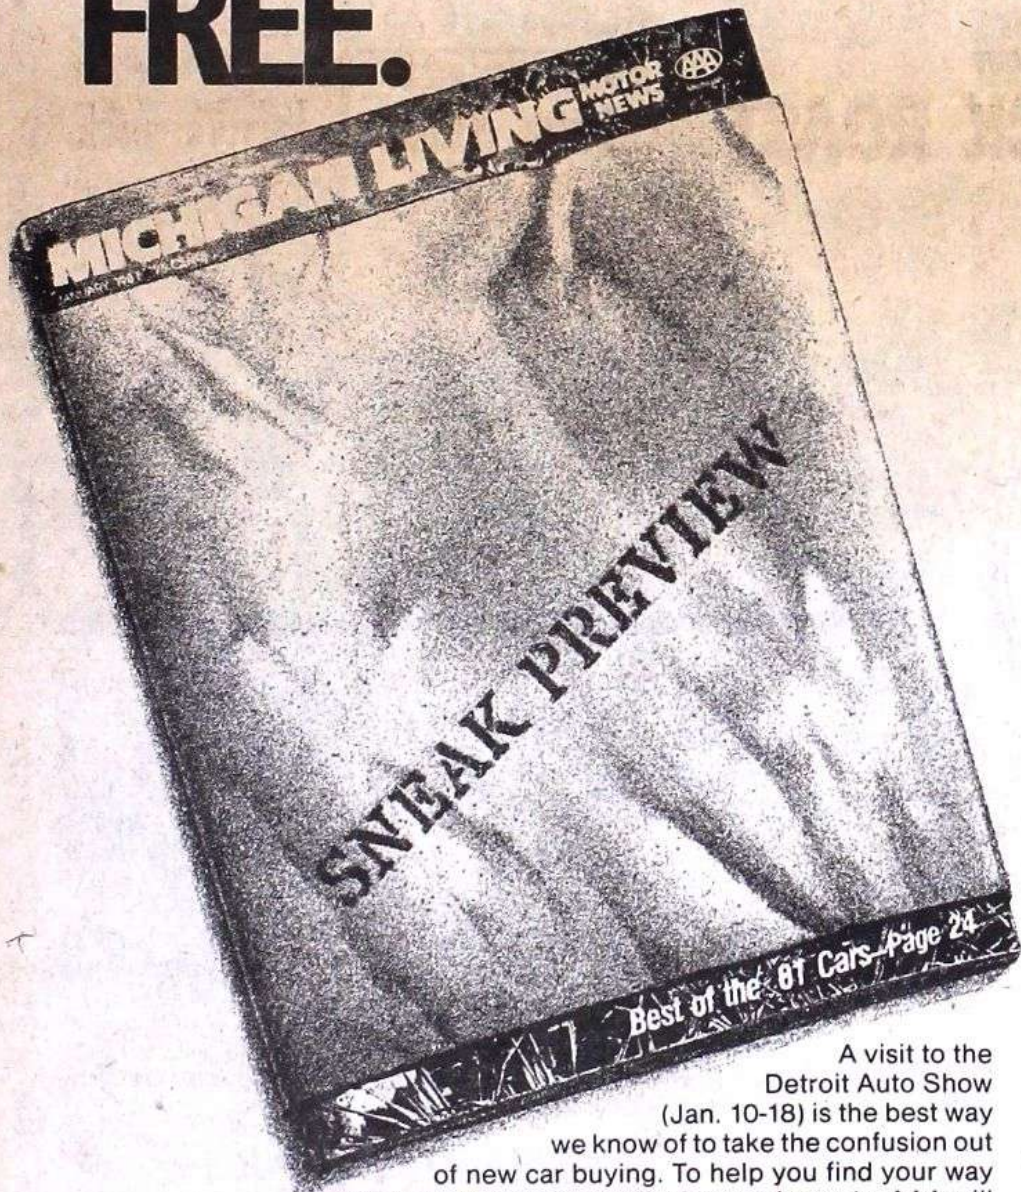

Fortunately, it can be treated successfully if it is diagnosed early. Unfortunately, you have no way of knowing of its onset other than by dental examination because there is normally no pain or other symptoms in its early stages.

Once this silent disorder advances, though, the gums and even the jawbone may become inflamed and eventually break down. But this extreme can be avoided if the dentist regularly examines your mouth both visually and with x-rays. He can determine whether there have been any changes in the mouth tissues or the bone around your teeth. He will also look for early tooth decay, impaction, tumors in the jaw area and abscesses in tooth roots. To insure healthy gums and teeth, you must combine regular dental examinations with effective brushing and flossing.

A public service to promote better dental health. From the office of KENNETH A. FOX, D.D.S., 9840 Haggerty Rd., Belleville. Phone 697-4400.

WCCC to pay Wilson $230,000 mediator in the recent dispute, will sponsor a testimonial event honoring Wilson, and that the college will present a plaque and resolution acknowledging Wilson's contributions.

Apart from certain other related stipulations, the aforementioned terms are largely those which enabled the WCCC Board to finalize its settlement with Wilson and to proceed with its administrative affairs with a new president.

Asked his opinion of the subsequent actions taken on behalf of the college, McCartney, who voted to terminate Reginald Wilson, was named a defendant by the latter, and who voted against the $230,000 settlement figure, offered his comment.

"I am greatly concerned for the well-being of the college from the cardinal standpoint of those we serve, our students," he said. "The impact of the financial settlement is to me a staggering thing, in view of current cuts in our educational appropriations from the State, and particularly in light of the public perspective of Wayne County Community College in recent days. This is a time which demands the vigilance of the Board members and those of the administrative staff who must decide how our dollars are spent."

McCartney said the immediate need for a long-term view of College resources, particularly in view of its imminent continuation of its campus development, the next phase of which will occur in Van Buren Township by Fall of this year.

"This is a community college, implying a responsibility to all the people of our 500 square mile service area," added McCartney. "Our regional developments in Taylor and in the Detroit-metropolitan area have spoken to the commitment WCC has throughout Wayne County."

Our next major development comes with the Western Regional Center, scheduled to open in seven months time. Between now and then it will be essential for the college to have a coordination of its mission and attitude for delivery of educational opportunities.

McCartney said he felt he had to take a conscientious stance with regard to recent controversial issues for the institution.

"I have been less concerned with the popularity of my positions, as opposed to their relation to the continuance of WCCC as a viable factor in our communities," McCartney said. "Yes, I voted to terminate Dr. Wilson in May of last year, and yes, I supported another candidate in the final selection of the college's new president. In the end my peers on the Board enabled a majority vote to appoint Richard Simmons to that position. At this time I am confident that what is imperative will be a consonant attitude between the trustees as a body and its administrative leader."

"There is too much at stake to allow petty differences to intervene. We have a common mission before us, which is to serve the populations of all areas of Wayne County. As a trustee I am optimistic that we will hopefully put our disagreements behind us and get about the business of serving our student body of 23,000."

"Once again, I will repeat my previous message to the members of the Board and the public at large, that vigilance is to be the key; how public and legislatively allocated dollars are spent must be determined with wisdom and the sentiments that what is good for Wayne County Community College is good for its students and communities, and vice-versa."

"I will continue to exercise this belief in my official capacity, and will continue to address our constituents, the community members, on behalf of the public trust."

then shooting. This is false economy. I stopped this unwise practice when some very fine negatives became light-streaked.)

Now you have to tell your camera's metering system the "speed" of the film. That is, how sensitive to light is the film you are using. Most 35mm cameras have a round dial on the top right-side that is pulled up and turned until the proper film speed number appears in a little window. To discover the film speed simply look on the box the film came in or on the film cassette — the speed will be next to the letters "ASA" or "ISO".

Japan offers students scholarships

Youth for Understanding (YFU) is offering scholarship opportunities for American high school students interested in spending next summer in Japan.

Youth for Understanding, one of the largest teenage student exchange organizations in the world, will award more than $60,000 in partial scholarships to qualified high school students between the ages of 14 and 18. A total of 315 American high school students will be going to Japan through the YFU program, leaving home in mid June and returning in mid August. Youth for Understanding has exchanged more than 80,000 high school students since its establishment in 1951.

The scholarships will be awarded primarily on the basis of merit, although need may be taken into account. Among those providing funding for the scholarships are the Rockefeller Brothers Fund and many well-known Japanese companies including: Toyota, Datsun, Mitsubishi Motors, Seiko, Hitachi, Nippon Steel, Toshiba, SONY, Sanyo, Honda, Pioneer, Kikkoman and Minolta.

According to YFU President John Richardson, Jr., former U.S. Assistant Secretary of State for Educational and Cultural Affairs, the sponsors of the scholarships believe that greater understanding between Japan and the U.S. will result from affording young Americans the unique opportunity to live with Japanese host families and to experience Japanese culture firsthand.

Before leaving for Japan, the students will attend a three day orientation which will introduce them to Japanese culture and tradition. The program also includes expense-paid Fall seminars for most participants for three years following the summer exchange experience. This enables students to continue to develop their understanding and appreciation of Japanese life.

Youth for Understanding is a non-profit educational organization dedicated to promoting greater international understanding by making it possible for young people to have an overseas family-living experience. Each year the organization exchanges about 7,500 students with 25 countries.

Interest students should apply immediately in order to be considered for this special scholarship opportunity prior to the February 15, 1981 deadline.

Kellogg Foundation offers $102,475

Grant to help local libraries

The Wayne Oakland Library Federation (WOLF), whose members include Belleville, Romulus, Wayne-Westland, Canton and Inkster, was informed recently that it is the recipient of a $102,475 grant from the W. K. Kellogg Foundation of Battle Creek.

The announcement was made by Leo T. Dinnan, Director of the 65-member public library cooperative. The grant will be used to train librarians in cable television programming and to test cable television transmission of automated library services. WOLF is evaluating proposals for an automated system, linking a common data base of the three million books owned by its member libraries. The location of any book will be known immediately through computer terminals located in member libraries. Messages will be sent on line to transfer materials to libraries where readers need them.

Part of the Kellogg grant will go to utilize cable facilities now being installed in the WOLF service area for library data transmission. A pilot program will test the value of access to the WOLF data base from specially modified television sets located in homes, schools and government offices.

As an incentive for smaller libraries to participate in the automated system, WOLF plans to use $51,000 of the grant to partially underwrite entry costs for about 17 libraries. The remainder of the grant will be used to train librarians in cable television programming and access channel operations. The training will include internship experiences with local cable companies.

Dinnan said, "The arrival of cable television technology and automated library technology in our service area is practically simultaneous. The Kellogg Foundation's assistance will enable us to prepare our libraries to take full advantage of both."

In 1976, the Kellogg Foundation awarded WOLF libraries a grant of $167,800 which was used to prepare library collection records for conversion to automated handling.

In 1930, breakfast cereal pioneer W. K. Kellogg contributed $5 million in personal wealth to establish the Kellogg Foundation. Using income from that bequest, the Foundation has made grants over the past five decades of more than $500 million in the areas of health, education and agriculture. The Foundation is today among the largest private philanthropic organizations in the nation, and supports programs on four continents, including the United States and Canada, Europe, Latin America and Australia.

ANP's Ken Peterson retires

...22 years of newspaper work

BY JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

He came in when hot type was in vogue, watched as newspapers went to offset printing and leaves just before the laser beam will revolutionize the publishing business.

After 22 years of various jobs at Associated Newspapers, Inc., Ken Peterson became the first company employee to retire last week. The hard-working, devoted worker of Swedish descent will be missed by all who toiled with him to publish ANP's six weekly newspapers.

His 5-10, 160-pound frame was a virtual bundle of energy as he worked behind the scenes in running the huge commercial camera in the back room of Associated's main office at 35540 Michigan Avenue in Wayne.

Ken carried his unrelenting enthusiasm through his final day on the job Dec. 30. "I enjoy my work," he said, rushing to finish a rush job of burning several negatives for a special printing order that came in just minutes before.

"There was something different all the time," he told his interviewer as he continued to work furiously. "Always something new and challenging." He dipped the negatives into a solution, thrust them up to the red light in his dark room and shook his head.

Glancing intently at the negatives he exclaimed hopefully, "Boy, I hope these negatives come out all right!" And despite a balky dryer that didn't want to work, he smiled as the negatives finally did turn out right.

But then, things have usually turned out all right for Ken Peterson. Even when they didn't look like they would, his dogged determination and pioneer spirit kept him at it until he overcame all obstacles.

The 62-year-old Peterson comes from a sturdy family background in northern Michigan. Born in Stombagh, Michigan in Iron Country, about 50 miles northwest of Iron Mountain, his mother was born in Sweden and his father was of Swedish descent and born in the upper peninsula.

"I remember the deep winter snows, the skiing and tobogganing as a youngster," he recalls. "Sometimes we'd be holed up for a week at a time in the winter because of heavy snows and impassable roads."

Most of all, Ken remembers he was sick much of the time as a youngster and his mother did much to shelter him and do things for him. "But she also taught me how to work with my hands and instructed me in many of the homemaking skills that came in handy later in life," he pointed out.

"My mother taught me how to hook rugs and braid rugs and it never left me. One of my most cherished memories is when I did a hooked rug as a teenager for my grandmother. She loved the rug so much that she placed it on the back of a favorite chair and never let it lay on the floor."

Ken's brother died at age two, leaving seven Peterson children — Ken, a brother, and five sisters. He came to the Detroit area at age 24 and lived with his brother in Franklin for two years. During that time, he worked for the city of Birmingham reading meters and drawing maps of the city for the engineering department.

His first taste of this area came when he worked at Bendix Aviation Corporation in Wayne during World War II from 1943 to the end of the conflict. He toiled in a gas station for a couple of years before working at Ford Motor Company's starter and generator plant in Ypsilanti for two years. From 1949 to the fall of 1958 Peterson worked for the Chrysler Briggs Manufacturing Company at Mack and St. Jean in Detroit.

Then came the recession of 1957-58 and Ken, like many others, was looking for jobs. "I was working on my own, doing anything and everything I could to make some income," he explained. "Then one day Wes Willett (the late father of ANP publisher David J. Willett) made his usual stop by Chum's Donut Shop when it used to be located by St. Mary's Catholic Church in Wayne. My wife, Audrey, worked there and Mr. Willett asked her if she knew anyone who wanted to drive a truck for Associated Newspapers."

"My wife said I would and came home and told me about the job. I drove a truck for Associated Newspapers for 10 years, hauling papers from Howell, Mich. I delivered the Belleville Enterprise and Romulus Roman to all stores from Ypsilanti to New Boston, plus taking the papers to the post office to be mailed."

In those days, the Eagle newspapers were published on Wednesdays and Ken would make three trips to Howell each Wednesday to pick up all the newspapers to be delivered. "I remember when we printed at Post Printing, and when we went to offset printing, we had the printing done in Mason."

That was in 1967 — and that's when Ken moved from behind the truck steering wheel to learning how to use the big commercial camera. "When they went offset, that's when I learned to use the commercial camera to shoot newspaper negatives. I learned from scratch — all about screening the pictures and shooting line shots for ad make-up."

"Hank Sword sold us the equipment and a salesman showed me how to use it. I picked up reading material and learned everything I could about using the commercial camera. I guess you could say I was self-taught. I wasn't afraid to try something new in photography to make a better product."

Ken worked for two years when ANP's production department was in the basement of a two-story white house that sat on the corner of Michigan Avenue and Sophia until it was torn down several years ago. Associated Newspapers moved to the former Spitzer-Demmer building in early 1970 (its present location) and Ken has faithfully been turning out quality work every day.

Managing Editor Tom Mooradian is sincerely sorry to see Ken leave.

"He's a real craftsman who takes great pride in his work. Dedicated employees like Ken don't come along very often," Mooradian said.

"I'm sincere when I say that it is truly a loss for our newspapers to see a man of Ken's quality retire," Mooradian added. "He's worked hard since the day he came and I've never known him to turn out even one piece of inferior work. He's a class person and we wish him well in his retirement."

Speaking of retirement, Ken and his wife, Audrey, plan to take their Trophy Trailer to Florida in the winter and to northern Michigan in the summertime. They'll also spend time with their two daughters, Margaret and Gloria Jean, and their son, Samuel.

"If the gas situation doesn't hinder us, we'd like to do some travelling — but we won't be able to travel like we had planned," Ken says. "I'm going to a warmer climate during the winters — that's for sure. But I like Michigan. I was born and raised here — and I'll spend some time up in northern Michigan in the summertime."

Ken loves to read, enjoys watching television, "if there's anything good on," and finds satisfaction in camping outdoors.

He says his guiding philosophy is: "I don't believe in biting the hand that feeds me and good day's work for a day's pay. Also, trust in the good Lord and He'll guide your steps. I feel the Lord is with me all the time — at work, driving on the road, at home, or anywhere I happen to be. I feel He's made me a dedicated worker."

And the large group of co-workers who honored Ken at his recent retirement party couldn't agree with him more.

County can't come up with SEMCOG dues

"Let me say that our not being active in SEMCOG in no way diminishes the posture and the need for regional planning. We stand ready to assist and support your activities in all other means available to us."

When SEMCOG was in dire financial distress in 1971, leadership by then Wayne County Chairman Robert Fitzpatrick, cooperating with Chairman William L. (Larry) Mainland of Oakland County, and Mel Ravitz, then President of the Detroit City Council, devised a formula for dues-sharing that salvaged the sinking SEMCOG.

Under that formula, member counties and communities pay dues according to a sliding scale based on the current State Equalized Valuation, with counties which are members guaranteeing the total funding under the formula.

In 1972, only 28 of Wayne County's 43 communities participated, and the County paid $145,096 of the $199,546 in dues provided by Wayne County governmental jurisdictions.

In the seven years (1972-79), the County of Wayne provided a total of $1,171,003 to SEMCOG, while communities within Wayne County provided $538,352.

The number of local communities within Wayne County participating in SEMCOG increased from 28 in 1972 to 39 in 1979 when the County's contribution was $139,151 and communities provided $82,890. Dues paid SEMCOG by all member counties and communities in the seven-county region, in 1979 totaled $503,000.

Wayne County has five votes on the 41-member SEMCOG Executive Committee and General Assembly. A special committee authorized by the SEMCOG Executive Committee is scheduled to meet in January to consider the status of Wayne County in the SEMCOG framework.

During recent years, the County of Wayne's financial crunch has forced the County to stop contributions to several other organizations. These include the Metropolitan Detroit Convention and Visitors Bureau ($54,000), the Southeast Michigan Travel and Tourists Association ($5,000), the Comprehensive Health Planning Council of Southeast Michigan ($25,420), and the Wayne County Child Care Coordination Council ($14,400).

Turner's letter to Glusac followed a demand voiced by the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners who threatened to not pay dues if Wayne County were allowed to continue to participate without contributing.

BY LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

Having been born under that twin sign of Gemini, I'd like you to know that what is written about us being procrastinators is the truth, the truth and nuthin' but the truth.

And that's one reason I've never jumped on the New Year's resolution bandwagon. By the time I got around to professing my do's and don't's for the year, it was usually mid-summer and much too late for getting in shape PRIOR to the golf season, much too late for spring cleaning and also usually way past post-Christmas and January white sales.

So -- rather than state determinedly what I'm gonna or not gonna do, I'd like to slide in this week with a few "wouldn't it be nice IF'S."

FOR INSTANCE, WOULDN'T IT BE NICE IF in 1981 our fellow drivers didn't figure they automatically had the right of way by merely flipping on a turning indicator?

If sportscasters would call a halt ya know to interviewing athletes after the "big game", thereby ya know sparing us their unintelligible replies always well-laced with "ya know".

If bureaucrats would stop thinking economy measures applied to everyone but THEM.

If J.L.H. and a few other department stores would use a little common sense and do away with those irritating recessed dim lights in areas where one attempts to match a blouse with a skirt, a sweater with slacks, etc. I know it's not my eyesight entirely and I have a heckuva time distinguishing navy from black from brown from dark green in such a romantic setting. Maddening!

If waiters and waitresses would check what the soup d'jour and special of the day are BEFORE coming to take your order and save themselves that trip back to the kitchen as soon as the question is asked. And, too, if they'd quit asking "Is this all on one check?" when you're dining en group.

And what a refreshing day it would be if Detroit's mayor were ever to quit calling everyone ELSE racists.

Wouldn't it be nice if buttons didn't fall off, loose threads clog zippers and hems come undone before you got to wear that new clothing more than once?

And we'd all remember how important a thank you or compliment are when a job is obviously well done or someone has gone out of his/her way to do a nicety.

If places like Baskins-Robbins and Farrell's would give you your moneys worth and quit taking the public (KIDS) to the cleaners with their golfball sized dips of ice cream.

If clerks would be as nice accepting a return as they are when making a sale.

If auto makers would back up their products without nudges from the Naders and the Feds, thereby saving everyone time, frustration and so many dollars.

If snowmobilers didn't figure they had the right away across your front lawn or garden.

If Americans would quit being a nation of litterbugs (spelled s-l-o-b-s) and take care of their droppings instead of spewing them all over the highways.

If so many hale and hearty folks didn't consider themselves suddenly handicapped when it came to finding convenient parking spots.

And, wouldn't it be nice if some columnists knew when to bring their fantasies to a halt?

Just out of curiosity, I kept track of postage stamps people used in mailing us holiday cards this year, interested to see how many bothered to purchase the special Christmas issues.

Surprisingly, half of what we received were stamped with a mish-mash of 13-centers, with one-fourth opting for the religious series and the final quarter with the so-called "toy" stamp.

We've all heard it used and some of us have even incorporated it into our own everyday usage but -- how many of you know where the old expression "eat humble pie" originated?

When you eat "humble pie", you're not only apologizing but also making amends for your oversight.

The expression goes all the way back to the time of William the Conqueror. It originally was "umble pie". Umbles were the edible inner organs of a deer. While the nobles dined on venison, the servants and huntsmen made do with a pie made of umbles.

So -- "eating humble pie" became a sign of inferiority.

What a GOOD book! That's what I predict you'll say as you reluctantly close the covers on "Kane & Abel", a vivid portrayal of two men, born on the same day in 1906, and under such diverse conditions that it's unimaginable their paths will ever cross.

For William Lowell Kane is a descendant of the Lowells and Cabots, a Boston Brahmin and a member of an old and respected banking family. Abel, discovered newborn in a Polish forest, is adopted by a peasant trapper's family and given the name of Wladek Koskiewicz. But fate intervenes and as a lad he is soon taken in by the wealthy Baron Rosnovski as a companion and competitor for his son.

Kane is bright, worldly and industrious and soon becomes a millionaire financier consumed by ambition and determination to surpass the financial feats of his father. With his corporate strategy and no nonsense attitude polished at Harvard, he becomes a director of his father's bank. And, eventually, he marries a beautiful socialite who provides just the right touch of social grace he'd not found necessary in his younger days.

Abel possesses all Kane's attributes except for opportunity. And though the Baron eventually makes him his heir as he lies dying in the dungeon of his palace which has been ruthlessly confiscated by the Russians, Abel spends his youth cunningly and courageously battling for survival in the prison camps of Siberia and in the unknown streets of Odessa. Finally escaping to America, he re-names himself Abel Rosnovski, and begins a classic immigrant's rags-to-riches life. Starting as a waiter at the Plaza, going to night school, getting his first break, he makes up for his early life of deprivation and becomes the head of a vast hotel empire.

How the two men come to set their goals in life on destroying each other, without ever meeting, is the core of Jeffrey Archer's tale of power, jealousy and terrible revenge. Surrounded by a host of people who both befriend and deceive them, Kane and Abel through a series of events, develop a personal hatred for each other which ultimately cuts them apart from their close-knit families and which shatters their reputations in the country.

I found myself taking sides constantly, first pulling for one and then the other while fully realizing they had ruined each others' lives needlessly and foolishly. With his characters richly drawn and his situations excitingly depicted, Archer writes a powerful tale and does so, surprisingly, without offensive language or today's penchant for the boudoir.

I hated to see "Kane & Abel" end.

THE BOTTOM LINE: You can't win. When you're right, no one remembers; when you're wrong, no one forgets.

Phil Shanks, Debra Eichold married at St. Anthony's

White mums and red carnations adorned the altar of St. Anthony's Catholic Church as Debra Eichold and Phillip Shanks exchanged nuptial vows and wedding bands before some 200 assembled guests.

The four o'clock ceremony on November 29 was conducted by The Rev. Raymond Skoney uniting in marriage the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Eichold and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Shanks, all of Belleville.

Organist was Rita Clark and soloist was Caroline Phillips.

Escorted to the sanctuary by her father, Debbie appeared in a toe-touching organza gown designed with a Queen Anne neckline, bouffant sleeves and a circular chapel train featuring a wide, lace-trimmed flounce.

Her fingertip veil of silk illusion which was caught to a little seed pearl encrusted headpiece was banded in lace to match that on the hem of her gown. Completing her bridal finery was a cascade bouquet of silk white sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

Kimberly Smither of Ypsilanti was her sister's matron of honor in a red pleated qiana gown accented by a chiffon cape. The bouquet she held was comprised of red silk roses and white carnations.

Bridesmaids in identical attire were Lisa Duff and the bridegroom's sister, Diane Shanks, both of Belleville.

Jack Caldwell of Belleville was asked to be best man. Groomsmen were Mike Koski, the bridegroom's cousin, and Glenn Patterson, both of Belleville.

On greeting some 310 relatives and friends at the Romulus Progressive Club, Mrs. Eichold was dressed in a mauve pleated gown with a companion cape in chiffon. The bridegroom's mother chose a turquoise 2-piece qiana ensemble. Both mothers were honored with silk orchid wrist corsages.

After a weekend at the Hyatt Regency in Dearborn and a motor trip to Frankenthuth, the newlyweds took up residence in Belleville!

Both young people are graduates of Belleville High School, he having earned his diploma in 1977 and she in 1980.

The rehearsal dinner was held at the Claude Shanks home.

For Romulus High School

Tonia Rush chosen DAR Good Citizen

A senior at Romulus High School, Tonia Rush, has been selected as DAR Good Citizen by the Quaker-town Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

Students chosen for this award must be citizens of the United States and have the qualifications of leadership, dependability, service and patriotism to an outstanding degree.

The recommended procedure is for the senior class to choose, by vote, three candidates having these qualifications and from the three, the high school faculty selects one to be the school's DAR Good Citizen.

The NSDAR recommends that selection be on a merit basis and not a popularity contest. The winner's name, together with the student's scholastic record, is sent to the Chapter chairman who conducts the local contest, selects one winner and sends the completed questionnaire, scholastic record, three letters of recommendation and a picture (for public relations only) to the state chairman.

The State DAR Good Citizen is selected by rules established by the individual state societies. The papers of the state winners are sent to the respective national vice-chairmen of the seven divisions and the National DAR Good Citizen is selected from those seven divisional winners.

Miss Rush will be one of 10 Good Citizens to be honored with their parents at a Jan. 20 luncheon at the Farmington Community Library. Mrs. Harold Dolph, Regent, will present each student with a Good Citizen pin and certificate.

The Romulus winner is active in Junior Achievement and currently is president of Kelslar, a newly-formed JA company. She was chosen Best Business Woman at the Wayne JA Center in 1978-79 and again in 1979-80. Miss Rush serves on her school newspaper staff and Romulus' yearbook staff, is a member of the Student Council, Y-Teens and is the president of the Sorrelles, a local youth group based in Inkster.

The states 10 finalists from 536 participating schools will be entertained at a luncheon in Lansing on April 2, DAR Spring Awards Day.

The National award winner will be announced at the DAR Continental Congress to be held in Washington, D.C. the week of April 30.

YFU has opportunities for international adventure

If you've ever dreamed of taking part in an international adventure, there's an organization that can help you fulfill those dreams.

Youth for Understanding, the largest high school student exchange program in the world, will place some 3,000 teenagers from continental United States with families in 26 world-wide countries next summer and year. "If you've ever wanted to expose your son or daughter to an experience in international living, we can help provide the adventure for them," says Youth for Understanding President John Richardson Jr., formerly Assistant Secretary of State from 1969 to 1977.

The non-profit organization matches teenagers aged 14 through 18 with compatible families from Europe, Latin America, Australia and the Far East. They place students in local schools, orient families and students, provide support services and offer professional guidance through volunteer networks operating in each country.

"The year my daughter spent in Germany was perhaps the most enriching adventure in international living she ever experienced, and determined her future career plans," said one YFU area volunteer.

"She helped our family expand our vision of the world, become intimately exposed to a different culture and country and develop a profound awareness of what it means to be American," he added. Exchange programs have proven

The early part of the evening was spent visiting over punch which was served by Sharlene Tator. The Christmas ceramic items the group had worked on at the November meeting were also returned by Miss Tator at this time.

Gifts were distributed by matching the dates on the paper pennies with those on the gifts. As in the past, the group exchanged hand-made or homemade items which this year ranged from Christmas decorations to wall plaques and mirrors to shawls.

A buffet lunch of baked chicken souffle and tossed salad was served by the hostess who was assisted by Eula Haft, Mildred Baker, Sharlene Tator and Loretta Long. A variety of cookies and chocolates tea and coffee made up the dessert portion.

The group was reminded that the January meeting would be a game night and they are to bring any game they no longer use or want that they'd like to exchange with another contributed by other members.

Editorial opinions

McCartney was right to vote 'no'

James McCartney, who serves this area's interest on the Wayne County Community College's Board of Trustees, should be applauded for his stance and vote against the disposed WC3 ex-chief's exorbitant list of demands.

Dr. Reginald Wilson asked for and received a lucrative settlement, including a hefty $230,000 from the college officials, for dropping all charges and litigation against the college and the trustees.

Of course, that $230,000 and other benefits are out of your and our pockets in the form of taxes.

JAMES MCCARTNEY

With McCartney and Michael Murray casting "no" votes, Dr. Wilson gained five votes to pass his "agreement" which he hopes will vindicate him and erase the recent flurry of controversy and dialogue from the records.

In that unprecedented agreement, Dr. Wilson has, in our opinion accomplished what only totalitarian dictators have been able to do. He has received a "carte blanche" to rewrite the past, to erase any detrimental remarks about him or his administration that may have been recorded in the minutes.

The Wilson settlement raises more questions than it settled. Why did the five board members who voted in favor of it buckle? Did they fear that maybe Dr. Wilson and the court hearings would reveal something that should not be revealed?

In contrast, McCartney was willing to take on Dr. Wilson and those who backed him to get to the bottom — if there was one — of this mess.

And we hope he continues to demand an accountability for the board's action.

And maybe an investigation.

Water increases coming your way

Better get ready for the next round of sewerage and water rate increases, folks.

Area households will be forced to fork over more of their paycheck to the local municipalities — if they haven't already — to meet the ever-increasing, never-ending demands by the supplier, Detroit.

Detroit, if you will recall, was forced by Chief Federal Judge John Feikens to raise its rates in order to comply with an Environmental Protection Agency mandate that it renovate its sewerage plant. The ERA has found that Detroit is one of the largest polluters of our lakes.

And, in order to receive matching federal funds, Detroit must come up with its share of monies. And since Detroit serves 76 communities, including most of the communities in this area, local governments have been forced to ask their residents to pay more for the service.

Some townships and municipalities will absorb some of the increases and pass on part of the proposed increase to the residents. Belleville and Sumpter have agreed to digest all of the current increases; however, don't expect them to do that forever.

Another problem is that Detroit has more than $17 million in outstanding water bills.

Pressure should be placed on Detroit to collect its bills.

And it also would be in your best interest to attend public hearings that your township or municipality holds, to learn just how your elected official decides to resolve this touchy issue.

Legislature also taking it on chin

By SEN. WILLIAM FAUST
Majority Leader

All the recent grim news about Michigan's bleak financial situation and the severe cutbacks which are necessary in all areas of the 1980-81 state budget have prompted some people to ask if the Legislature itself is feeling the budgetary squeeze and cutting back on its own spending.

The answer is that the Legislature is taking it on the chin just like everybody else and is doing everything it can to cut expenses and save money.

Even a casual look at the cost containment measures we have imposed provides some very convincing evidence that Michigan's legislators are dead serious about tightening their belts to save the state some money.

It must be kept in mind that the legislative budget is small when compared to the total state operating budget, less than one half of one percent, but we realize that it is important to cut back wherever possible and we are doing so. Over-all, the $40.9 million proposed legislative budget for the 1980-81 fiscal year is down 12.6 percent from last year's budget.

Focusing on the Senate, let's take a close-up look at the kind of cost containment measures and budget cutbacks that have been imposed since October.

In-state Senate staff travel has been completely cut out for the period between November 1, 1980 and March 31, 1981 and Senators have been requested to keep in-state travel to an absolute minimum. Furthermore, no out-of-state travel will be allowed unless there is a clear likelihood that it will bring federal funds to Michigan.

In addition, no printing of any publication will be permitted between November 1 and March 31, 1981. Also, no mass mailings will be allowed during that period.

Another important cost cutting measure put into effect is the postponement of all repairs, publications, equipment and supply requests until at least January 1, unless absolutely necessary.

And, no new employees will be hired until at least January 1 and no part-time employees will be given a pay increase until at least January 1.

In addition to those money-saving regulations, longevity bonuses for Senate employees may not be paid this year. Furthermore, I anticipate that there will be layoffs in the Senate and that there will be additional restrictions on legislative activities.

I am hopeful that Michigan's economic picture will brighten as 1981 gets underway, but until it does Michigan residents can be assured that their State Senate will continue to do everything possible to cut costs and will continue to look for additional money-saving ideas. With state budget revenues drastically decreased as a result of the slump in Michigan's automobile industry, it is more important than ever to make every budget dollar stretch as far as possible.

A reply to TV's Bill Bonds

The City of Romulus has been the subject of, and to, considerable ridicule by the communication media; most specifically, in a commentary aired on November 14, 1980 by the noted and respected reporter Mr. William (Bill) Bonds.

The City of Romulus is a mid-sized community which admittedly has its share of financial difficulties, not unlike most governmental entities today; notwithstanding those difficulties, however, the people of this community are hard-working and proud of the community in which they live (a pride that is reflected by their governmental officials) and subsequently, forego many public services, needed and desired, so as to meet their obligations, contrary to the text of Mr. Bonds' commentary.

Mr. Bonds' commentary dealt with a long standing dispute between the City of Romulus and the County of Wayne over payment for law enforcement services, which the City has contracted from the County. It was alleged by Mr. Bonds that the City of Romulus was utilizing the tax dollars of the citizens of the County at large to defray the cost of its police services.

The Mayor and City Council of the City of Romulus are appalled by this atrocious distortion of the facts and on behalf of the very proud citizens of our community call your attention to the following:

On February 14, 1978, William M. Oakley, Mayor of the City of Romulus, after considerable deliberation with County Officials brought to the Romulus City Council an agreement between the City and the County to resolve this long-standing dispute. The City Council by its Resolution 78-061, and I quote "Motion by Raspberry, supported by McAnally, to concur with the memorandum of agreement by and between the City of Romulus and the County of Wayne, Michigan, in the total amount of One Million Seventy Six Thousand Two Hundred Thirty Nine Dollars and Fifteen Cents ($1,076,239.15), as recommended by the Mayor. Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Carter, Cantrell, McAnally, Raspberry, Block, Banks, Nays - None. Motion carried unanimously, concurred with the recommendation of the Mayor to approve same; thereby, eliminating all grounds for dispute or so it was believed by the Officials of Romulus (see attached).

This agreement provided that the City of Romulus owed the County of Wayne One Million Seventy Six Thousand Two Hundred Thirty Nine Dollars and Fifteen Cents ($1,076,239.15), which, when paid would eliminate all outstanding financial obligations through December 31, 1977.

The record will show that the City of Romulus has complied in totality with the commitments made in this agreement, making to the County of Wayne payment of One Million Seventy Six Thousand Two Hundred Thirty Nine Dollars and Fifteen Cents ($1,076,239.15) in full, as provided in the contract. Further, the City has continued to make with few exceptions, as provided in the original contract, monthly payments as billed by the County.

The citizens of the City of Romulus recognize that they must be accountable for their actions and certainly the actions of their officials and stand ready to accept this responsibility. We implore our neighbors and friends to be equally responsible, and in this case the noted and respected William (Bill) Bonds. Recognizing Mr. Bonds' fine record for informing the public we rest assured that he will find time to devote and equal amount of prime time to correcting the injustice the fine citizens of Romulus experienced.

Respectfully submitted,
Leonard J. Folmar, City Clerk
City of Romulus

The Other Side of the Meridian

'The Agreement'

By TOM MOORADIAN
Managing Editor

The shell of a multi-million dollar building is standing on I-275 at Haggerty and Tyler Roads, on a tree-lined 80-acre site in Van Buren Township.

The $14 million educational building belongs to the Wayne County Community College network of schools; and someday, after all of the controversy about its now disposed ex-president, Reginald Wilson, is over, the building will be completed.

Dr. Wilson was fired by the WCCC (better known as WC3) board of trustees, who subsequently got involved in a $9 million lawsuit filed by the ex-president. The beligerently contemptuous Dr. Wilson, however, apparently had the last laugh.

The WC3 board agreed to pay off the ex-head of the college with a hefty $230,000, as explained in a "Memorandum of Agreement," "to be payment for general or compensatory damages for injuries to my (Dr. Wilson's) reputation and health, invasion of my personal rights to privacy, defamation of my character, and personal injuries..." etc. etc. and etc. (The etc.'s are this writer's).

The great detachment also stipulates that "within 60 days of the effective date of settlement, New Detroit, Inc. will sponsor an event honoring Dr. Wilson, and Wayne County Community College will present at that event a plaque and resolution acknowledging Dr. Wilson's contributions to the College."

Before the bilious Dr. Wilson aims his darts at The Other Side of the Meridian, let it be made clear that we also acknowledge his great contributions to the college. He took a fledgling educational institution that was losing monies hands over fist, and made a success out of it.

Nearly bankrupt, Dr. Wilson summoned to his side some of the financial wizards in the state and, with their help, lifted the school out of its dismal position. His work was greatly appreciated, I'm sure.

But isn't that why a person or persons are hired - to do a job? Isn't that why they are paid? And wouldn't you think intelligent people would understand this simple observation?

Prima donnas become vulnerable when they ask for more for themselves and give less to the people whom they serve.

James McCartney of Westland, who serves this area's interests on the WC3 board says:

"The termination of Dr. Wilson was the first the major surgery of regaining the stature that our community college is worthy of. We tried to resolve our problems with an interim president without a great deal of success.

"Hopefully with the lawsuit now behind us and a new president in position, we can move in a positive manner and get on with the business of education."

Has the Wilson controversy hurt the college's image?

"I would think so," McCartney said. "After all, the students and their parents see all of this detrimental material about the college in the newspapers, and hear the controversy on TV and radio. They're bound to ask themselves if it's worth sending their children to the college."

But McCartney is quick to point out that "any institution that has 20,000 plus students and is one of the largest urban community colleges in the country will constantly face challenges, simply by the very nature of the institution."

It should also be made clear that McCartney and his colleague, Michael Murray, were the only two (of seven) trustees who didn't agree to Dr. Wilson's blackmail.

In the meantime, the trustees agreed to replace their interim president. They named for their inspirational figure, Dr. Richard Simmons.

And let's hope that the dirt and the mud which has been tossed around for the past few months will be used to plant the seeds of knowledge and culture instead of venom.

Won't patronize State-Wayne

EDITOR — The first time the State-Wayne closed, I felt sorry. The next time I'll say "Good Riddance!"

I live in Wayne and would like to see the business district prosper, but I will not patronize an establishment that allows the conduct that went on inside the State-Wayne theater. My wife and I just walked out in the middle of a picture because of the zoo like atmosphere inside the show. Teenagers talking, fighting, giggling and constantly jumping from one seat to another is not my idea of an enjoyable evening. The writing is on the wall State-Wayne. Are you going to do anything about it?

The sad part is that this is going on at 9:30 in the evening while an adult type of picture was playing. (The Elephant Man).

Error in rescue report

EDITOR — In reference to the Associated Newspapers' article in your Monday, December 29, 1980 edition of the Inkster Ledger-Star Page A-3, there was a slight error made. The extrication of the young injured lady was preformed by the Inkster and Dearborn Heights Fire Departments and transported by the Inkster Fire Department rescue, not the police department.

Being this is a regular occurrence we would sincerely hope these errors will not be made again.

Gun control laws exist

EDITOR — A recent letter to the Detroit News from a Romulus lady was wondering why there aren't gun control laws in this country.

There are over 20,000 laws which control firearms in this country. Does the lady know that a private individual cannot even own a handgun in New York City?

Does she know that she must go to the police, be fingerprinted and in her case wait 6-13 weeks for a permit to purchase a handgun? Then take the gun back for a safety check, (actually registration).

A little green card is issued with her thumb print which must be kept with the handgun. She now can keep the gun in her house only.

Turn-off is a turn-off

EDITOR — Recently the City of Westland had to turn the water off on my street to do repairs.

It sure would have been nice if someone had let the residents know that they would be with-out water.

I hope in the future the city will be kind enough to inform the affected public.

Council went too far

EDITOR — When will the Westland "council power" stop. After reading story on new restrictions, and new ordinance concerning garage sales, I am convinced the "power" had gone beyond a reasonable point.

Yes, I agree that we do not want every post or pole in Our Great City of Westland covered with homemade signs. But a permit to discard old but useable items is unfair.

In this age of "making ends meet", often a once-a-year sale makes the difference between a vacation or no vacation. A nite in or a nite out for the family. Also maybe a special treat for the family. It not only provides cash, but helps to get that spring-cleaning done with a profit.

All citizens of Westland find it important to keep our properties kept-up and cleaned out. It also helps to make our children learn a little JC work at home. Above all the project involves the whole family, and we sure need more together-family activities these days.

Although, we've only had a few sales of our own over the last ten years, all of them have been family run and a family profit.

I feel a permit would not only be an added expense to the seller, but the cost would spread to the city. It would mean an officer specially assigned to check permits and the $2 would not cover the expense. So, who would pay that extra cost? City at large — I suppose. You would pay through taxes, even if you did or did not have a sale of your own.

I suggest a regulation only for posting of signs. Restrictions as to where the signs are to be posted. Then fine those who do not comply.

I hope there would be other concerned citizens of Westland who will also write in to express their opinions on this new ordinance.

Thank you.

Norwayne women say thanks

EDITOR — The Women of Norwayne just hosted their eighth annual Lunch With Santa Christmas Party for needy Westland area children.

Because of the unemployment situation, we had many more children attending our party than in years past. To the additional number of children, we needed more outside donations than ever before.

We would like to take this opportunity to thank the many people who helped make Christmas merrier for so many children.

Gene Hudson, director of the Youth Energy Services;

The Chapmans of The American Legion Post 251;

Father Andrew Nieckarz, pastor of Saints Simon & Jude; Norman Swope and the other Ss. Simon & Jude church council members;

Joe and Betty Shaloub;

Meijers Thrifty Acres;

Chatham Supermarket;

and The Westland City Council.

We would also like to thank all the local businesses and the Westland citizens who donated but wish to remain anonymous.

In such economic hard times it is good to know people still remember the true spirit of Christmas, helping others. Thank you all again.

On the brighter side

The two sides of character's coin

By JIM BRADLEY

The two faces of human nature. My wife and I had two experiences—one at Christmas and one on New Year's Day—that graphically depict both sides of nature's coin. Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde once more embodied in human flesh.

The lifelong struggle of good and evil—those who generously give and those who only take—was again vividly portrayed by characters playing their parts on life's stage.

The past year closed on a joyous note, the new year began with discordant tone.

It was a few days before Christmas and beautifully lighted houses, decorated with multi-colored bulbs, blinked their holiday greetings to every passerby. Friendliness filled the air and people smiled and seemed contented for a while. It was the happy season.

We stopped at a small party store in Westland. It could have been any town in any state of the union. I waited in the car while my wife hurried inside to pick up a couple things before we arrived home to a warm living room and beautiful Christmas tree. Familiar strains of Christmas hymns and carols floated from my FM car radio while I waited for my wife to return.

Within minutes she jumped into the front seat, flashing a big smile that brightened her countenance. And then she told me a story that rekindled my faith in human beings.

Inside the party store there was a canister, she explained, that held donations for an under-privileged boy. There was a letter attached to the canister that told how the boy's bicycle had been stolen recently from in front of a large merchandise store.

It seems that in addition to being under-privileged, the boy was hindered physically in other ways.

After the boy's bike was stolen, someone said to him, "Perhaps Santa will bring you a bicycle for Christmas."

Filled with despair and knowing only the penury of a poor home, the boy replied, "No, he can't afford it." Having his bicycle stolen was a blow the young lad felt deeply. The hurt brought more than a painful look to his face, it cut all the way through to his heart.

Many customers were deeply touched by the letter and its eloquent but simple plea to help buy a bike for an under-privileged boy who had his stolen. My wife took a $5 bill and dropped it into the container.

"Oh, thank you!" said the lady behind the counter. "That should give us enough money to buy the bike."

Even though I had not taken a direct part in the unfolding true story of people pitching in to help an under-privileged boy, I still bathed in the glow of the thoughtful deed. In fact, it warmed my heart and demonstrated once again the true meaning of Christmas.

But New Year's Day was just a week away. Within a few days we once again see the other face of human nature—the other side of character's coin.

My wife and I sat down in the booth by the window in a large restaurant in Garden City. It could have been any restaurant in any city. The clock on the wall showed it was nearly one-thirty in the afternoon.

It was New Year's Day. Several inches of snow covered the ground and patrons, shunning home-cooked meals, thronged the restaurant for a holiday meal. Just about every booth was filled with chattering people, animatedly describing the events of the previous night or regaling their listeners with tales of their latest exploits.

Suddenly there was a commotion on the other side of the restaurant near the cash register. The white-haired hostess yelled, "Stop him!" and chased a dark-haired man out the double front doors. Soon another young man darted outside and the manager, cook and busboy went running after them.

A hush fell over the customers as they watched the real-life drama unfold. What was going on? Several times the darting figures raced back and forth past the windows as the customers craned their necks to catch a glimpse of the excitement and try to figure out what was happening.

Soon a Garden City police car pulled into the restaurant parking lot and a husky uniformed officer strolled in the front door. The excited white-haired hostess led the officer over to where a young man, probably in his early twenties, sat with two young ladies in a booth. He was one of the two men that ran out the door but had been caught by the kitchen cook, who was himself about 19 years old.

"I deserve something extra for that," the cook said within earshot, pausing to catch his breath.

We were leaving as the officer talked with the young man in the booth with the two young ladies.

The next day we returned to the restaurant for breakfast. Curiosity got us just like it did the cat. After the white-haired hostess led us to a booth, I couldn't help but ask her what happened the day before. Since we were regular customers and she knew us well, she was glad to explain.

"Two young fellows each ordered a big meal and then tried to slip out without paying," she said. "They sat in the booth a long time and I had my eye on them. One came to the cash register and asked me if I had four quarters for a dollar so he could buy a newspaper. I told him he could buy the newspaper when he paid for his meal."

"Then he bolted out the front door and I ran after him. He flung the door closed and it bruised my hand here," she said, holding it up for us to see.

"Then the other fellow ran outside, too. We caught the first one but the other got away. He told the policeman he didn't know the other man's name, that he picked him up hitch-hiking, but we think they knew each other."

The lady slowly shook her head.

"He finally paid his bill, but the police say we should still bring charges, otherwise they will get away with this kind of thing. You'd be surprised how often people come in at night, eat a meal, and try to leave without paying," she added. "It's a real shame."

Two experiences over the holidays that show the two sides of human character—the good and the evil. Those who give and those who take.

And as long as man walks this mortal coil, similar scenes will be repeated over and over again. The people, places and circumstances will be different but the motivating forces will always be the same.

The two sides of character's coin, the two faces of human nature.

Reflections

When a mother cries, a family listens

BY JOYCE HAGELTHORN

The new year had barely seen two days when I put on dark glasses and began my goodbye's.

"Look, mother is crying," the family shouted in practiced unison.

"I am not crying," I said, pressing my lips firmly together so that no one could see them quiver.

"Then why do you have on your dark glasses?" they asked.

To keep the sun out of my eyes, I told them and ignored them when they reasonably pointed out that there was no sun ... only dark, rolling gray clouds, and a dark sky.

My jet-flying son, his new bride and his good dog, George, had briefly lighted a few days before Christmas, blew in for Christmas Eve, and on this particular evening, lit long enough to kiss us goodbye and wish us a Happy New Year, slithered his new car through the snow banks, and with George (our dog) barking out of the back window, took off for Mississippi where the jets awaited him.

But I knew he had been home, although the glimpses were brief, for no drawer was left unscrambled, and no lock had been re-locked.

Signs of him were everywhere and it was several days before I could bring myself to re-assemble the drawers, relock the locks, and know it would be several months before I would have to do it again.

"We might as well take down the Christmas tree," my husband said from the depths of his easy chair.

"I can't believe Christmas is really over," I whispered, wiping away the tears. The long body in the easy chair sprang nimbly to its feet and ripped the Christmas tree from its stand and heaved it out into the snow.

"There, now you can sweep up," he said magnanimously.

But the sweeper wouldn't work. I don't know whether you have noticed but sweepers aren't like they used to be. When I first became a housewife I could unclog the sweeper all by myself, but with the new technology, I am told, it takes a mastermind to accomplish such a feat, and everyone at our house knows who the mastermind is. He tells us every morning. And so I called him, and he turned the sweeper upside down and looked at it.

"Screwdriver," he rasped.

I went out in the kitchen and got a kitchen knife.

"I said a screwdriver," he shouted.

"I always use a kitchen knife," I told him. "It's easier than walking down to the basement."

"Women," he snarled. "That's why they never flew B-24's."

I reminded him that I had a girl cousin who did, and he reminded me that she had also flown into a mountain, and I didn't have an answer to that since I didn't even know which mountain she had flown into, so I let him go to the basement after his screwdriver.

That finding that implement was going to be no easy task was evidenced by the shouts and the yells emanating from the lower floor.

"That kid took all of my tools," the voice from the register hollered. "What the hell is he going to use a screwdriver for in a jet?" he went on. I could hear things falling and I knew it was going to be a long time before he found a screwdriver, even if the kid hadn't taken it and it was laying there right under his nose. So I took my kitchen knife, unscrewed the under-plate, unclogged the long, plastic tube, replaced the under-plate, tightened the screws with my kitchen knife and swept up the needles.

About the time I had finished he came stomping up the stairs with his handy little screwdriver which he had found under the furnace.

"Give me that sweeper," he shouted.

He turned it upside down, whipped off the under-plate, shook out the long plastic tube, replaced the under-plate, screwing in the screws with his screwdriver. Standing the sweeper up, he handed it to me.

"Women would never make it in this world without men," and he scrunched down in his easy chair to finish watching the football game which had started fifteen days or so ago.

From Veterans Administration

Don't let lost documents prevent you from seeking veterans benefits, the Veterans Administration today reminded veterans and their dependents.

A VA spokesman said, "We have found that some veterans who cannot locate birth or marriage certificates don't apply for benefits because they believe these documents are essential."

VA will accept a certified statement instead of an original birth or marriage certificate when needed to establish eligibility. In the case of a marriage this policy applies only to the first marriage for each partner, and there must be no contradictory information on file at VA.

In years past, VA required formal documentation to support claims for compensation and education benefits for veterans, widows and orphaned children.

Now, however, VA will accept a certified statement regarding the birth of a veteran's child or as proof of age and relationship in disability cases, the spokesman said.

VA urged veterans and their dependents with eligibility questions to contact the nearest VA regional office or a representative of one of the national veterans organizations.

'Popeye' entertains with superb acting, special effects

Robin Williams as Popeye

'Popeye'—A Paramount Pictures release. Directed by Robert Altman. Produced by Robert Evans. Starring Robin Williams, Shelley Duvall and Paul Smith. Rated 'PG.'

By STEVE K. WALZ
Special to Playtime

It's open season on producers and directors, from a critics point of view. Dino ("Flash Gordon") DeLaurentis, Mike ("Heaven's Gate") Cimino, Robert Altman and Bob Evans ("Popeye") have all been hammered by the press for their supposedly extravagant and egotistical film-work.

Unfortunately, the critics have spent more time chipping away at the director-producer personalities, rather than telling their readers whether these movies are worth patronizing at $4 a head. "Popeye" is a case in point.

Robert Altman really hasn't had a successful film since "M-A-S-H," while Evans' career has taken a nose dive since "Players" bombed at the box-office and his unfortunate encounter with the law regarding drugs.

Altman and Evans teamed up to produce this big-screen adaptation of the popular comic strip, and despite the criticisms, "Popeye" is not a bad movie at all.

It's true that Altman-Evans have never worked within the framework of this film genre before, and there are times when the scripting details some of those shortcomings. But Messrs. Altman and Evans should be commended for coaxing magnificent performances out of the principal characters.

"Popeye," as portrayed by Robin Williams, sheds his 'Morkan' image to give the audience an accurate picture of the rugged, but compassionate sailor who searches for his long lost father in a seaside village called Sweethaven. Robin has mastered all of Popeye's tonal and facial mannerisms.

Duvall, of whom I have never been a big fan of before, reversed my opinion by exploiting Olive Oyl's machinations to the limit. Everything about her is Olive Oyl.

Paul Smith makes a convincing Bluto although he could have been given a bit more substance.

And who is this Wesley Ivan Hurt portraying the baby Sweet Pea? He's got to be the cutest and most cerebral baby to hit the big-screen in a long, long time. (Actually, Wesley is Robert Altman's grandchild.)

I'm not saying "Popeye" is a great film because it isn't. The picture suffers from an occasional lapse of script lag while the music could have been a bit more endearing. But "Popeye" does have superb acting, nice special effects and tries very hard to entertain you.

'Formula' questions oil profits

'The Formula'—An MGM release. Directed by John Avildsen. Produced by Steve Shagan. Starring Marlon Brando, George C. Scott and Marthe Keller. Rated 'R'.

By STEVE K. WALZ
Special to Playtime

It wasn't easy to coax Marlon Brando out of cinematic retirement. So what is it about "The Formula" that piqued Brando's interest?

According to Steve Shagan, the author of the best-selling novel and the film's producer, Brando told him he felt that "this world has been run and manipulated by a bunch of cartels since the Industrial Revolution. And if this movie leaves people thinking—fine." Mind you, the oil companies are already up in arms about this picture which intimates that the American oil companies have been pry to a "Formula" which could produce an abundance of oil and gas at costs below that of OPEC since 1945.

This compelling tale of international intrigue stars George C. Scott as detective Barney Craine whose assignment to a murder case leads him to the Formula. It also headlines Marlon Brando as an Armand Hammer type oil bigwig, Adam Steiffel, and Marthe Keller as a reluctant, but duty-bound terrorist.

"The Formula" is one of those films that asks of its audience to think hard as the story unfolds bit-by-bit. George C. Scott tries to piece together the puzzle that surrounds "The Formula," and as he encounters one bizarre event after another, he becomes obsessed with discovering who is manipulating this global chess game.

The final showdown between Scott and the brains behind-the-plot will probably become a screen classic.

At times, you will find "The Formula" a bit confusing, but nevertheless, it is topical and thought provoking. Shagan, who had a falling out with John Avildsen, the film's director, over the editing process, admits that he is happy with the final print, but that it could have been even more inflammatory.

"The Formula" does not mention any oil company by name, nor does it name the terrorist organization involved in the plot (Shagan claimed that he had every intention of labeling the group (PLO), but MGM wanted no problems).

"The Formula" should also be seen for its powerful performances and the question that it poses—Are we being used as pawns in a global plot to maximize oil profits?

Dittilies live:

Nostalgia reigns supreme at Canton's Center Stage

"Dr. Z"

"Bongo" Bob Sicott

By JOHN SPELICH
Special to Playtime

It has been some months since Playtime has checked in with the Dittilies.

To no surprise we found them playing their usual weekend gig at the Center Stage in Canton.

The group has been the house band since last spring, playing the hits of the 60's and the comedy of the 80's. The Dittilies repertoire includes most styles of 60's music including British Invasion, West Coast, Philadelphia, Motown and Acid Rock. There is literally something for everyone who enjoys the nostalgic memories of the 60's.

The Dittilies play on the nostalgia aspect of their act. They realize their music is a form of escapism. In a way they are medicinal. For many, spending time dancing to the music of the 60's seems to make current troubles go away for awhile. They can return to a time when life seemed simpler.

Vocalist Kim Stewart explains the need for nostalgia:

"As you get older, life gets more complex. You say, 'I've got to face it. I gotta grow up and accept responsibility.' When you get nostalgic, you think back to all those times when you didn't have that responsibility. (The music) brings back those times."

Vocalist Steve King continues, "Certain songs I hear bring back a memory, a good one. For a lot of people, our music brings back good memories."

Displaying such sensitivity to the situation, it is no wonder the Dittilies are one of the most popular groups in the metropolitan area.

The group's drawing power is apparently as strong, if not stronger than ever. They are so popular with the local crowds that the Center Stage management has once again extended the groups' contract retaining them as the house band until at least March 1981.

"As local talent goes, the Dittilies draw better consistently than any other group we've worked with," said Center Stage manager Glenn Peacock. "They have set attendance records for local talent. They even draw consistently better than the national acts."

As one who has seen the Dittilies at several different venues, none of their performances seems to compare to the work they have done at the Center Stage.

When asked if the "home turf" advantage inspires them to put out a higher level of energy, Dittilie Steve "Buddy Love" King responded, "a good audience makes all the difference in the world. We could do a show and get a great audience reaction one night and not be so well received another night. Different audiences react differently to the same material."

"The Dittilies are a phenomena. No other local band has such a successful home base," said Peacock. "It's a combination of Center Stage and the Dittilies. The two together have achieved success."

King has praise for the facility but disagrees slightly with the appraisal.

"The Center Stage is a great facility. The lights, the staging, its big enough for our following," he said. "However, I'm confident that we could do the same quality show at any other club of a comparable size."

The bottom line is this: no matter the club size, acoustics, whatever, if you like the music of the 60's, you are going to love the Dittilies.

For a Hot New Years Resolution, call the Dittilie Hotline for information on alternative club dates, etc. 535-3313.

What's That Sound?

By STEVE O'LEARY

Frankie LaMarr-'Showbiz' b-w 'Kids'

Frankie LaMarr is a familiar face on the Detroit music scene, although not familiar enough as of late. As a cornerstone in the quasi-legendary Kurbstone Beateaze a few years back, LaMarr immediately became a guitar force to be reckoned with in the area, and in spite of paying some heavy dues as a member of Sirious Trixon's Motor City Badboys for awhile, he's back now and seemingly as good as ever.

The "A" side (or, as it's called on the record jacket "Side Rock," as opposed to the flip, which is of course "Side Roll") is basically a one man tour de force, with Frankie playing everything but the drums, which are provided by the Torpedoes' Ralph Serafino.

It'll rock your socks off (so be careful not to catch cold), and if you've ever imagined that your pot of gold lies with fame and fortune, then you'll no doubt be able to identify with LaMarr's bountiful wish:

"People say 'Kid, you'll be a star - Just leave it up to us' - Well, that's the way I want it to be - 'Cause fame is so voluptuous."

Reminiscent in a way of old Alice Cooper (a la "Be My Lover"), the nimble riff is sprinkled with some remarkably tasteful lead work, with the vocal sounding better than I had remembered him as sounding. After all, Frankie LaMarr is, first and foremost, a guitarist, and while he's not a bad singer, it certainly isn't his forte.

Personally, I like the flip, "Kidz," better though. It's irresistible rhythm guitar playing carried the song all by itself, although it doesn't need to, because this is where Frankie's lyrical wit comes into play. As good a teen anthem of defiance as I've heard in years, this is excellent good-time, "nayaah nayaah!" type stuff that is lots of fun. Check it out:

*Mom and Dad say that we're all lazy
My Mom and Dad, they say that we're all crazy
They say they raised us to be good
But now they say they'd shoot us if they could
You know we love to play our records loud
We love it when our parents have to shout
For years they've tried to get us to move out
But we're the Kids, and that's what we're all about.*

No doubt about it, Frankie LaMarr has no lack of talent, when it comes to playing guitar, and his songwriting is simply superb, laced with hooks that are guaranteed lethal. But while his vocals are passable, I think that what he needs to go all the way is a good band behind him to free him from the vocal chores.

Fishing Lines

By BOB SAWITSKI

'Bullcat' lures recommended

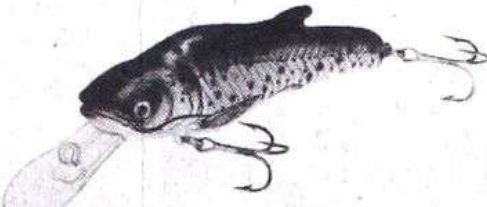

Tackleshops in the area will soon be besieged with a plethora of new items for the 1981 fishing season. Some will be worthwhile, and some won't even rate a second glance.

Among the most worthwhile of new fishing lures, in my opinion, is the new "Bullcat" series of crankbaits produced by Crankbait Corporation, of Beachwood, Ohio.

A trend started a few years ago in the bass tackle industry to manufacture lures with lifelike finishes. Crankbait Corporation was among the first to come out with a realistic "natural" pattern—but their lures also featured natural shapes.

Their new Bullcat line of lures include channel cat, bullhead, stonecat and bullcat patterns. The high visibility print patterns were designed as composites so the lures would be effective in any waters where these species exist.

Crankbait Corporation's research over the past two years has uncovered a population of bass in farm ponds, pay lakes, oxbow lakes, strip pits, city reservoirs, rivers and even in city park lakes where stomach content samples included a high percentage of catfish and bullheads. They found out that farmers could not stock catfish in ponds with established bass populations because of the high predation rate on the newly-planted fish.

Channelcat pattern lure

Both Belleville and Ford lakes here in southeastern Michigan contain large populations of catfish and bullheads. Late in the spring every year, these fish spawn and immature fish can easily be seen swimming about the lakes in large, dark cloud formations following the parent fish. The best way to catch largemouth and smallmouth bass in these lakes at this time has been to swim a black jig around these clouds of fish. Occasionally, you can spy a bass busting these schools feeding on the fingerling bullheads.

It's not unusual to hook and land a bass and, while you're removing the hook, have two or three baby bullheads pop out of the bass' mouth!

These new Bullcat lures, particularly the yellow-and-green bullhead pattern, should be dynamite after the bullheads spawn in Belleville and Ford Lakes. Tiger muskies and walleyes should also be vulnerable. Crankbait Corporation recommends fishing these lures in late evening, at night and during tadpole hatches in ponds. I can also foresee much success trolling with these lures for walleyes in the Detroit River, and casting for smallmouth in the Huron River.

These tough, foam-bodied, clear-lipped lures imitate the wide displacement swimming action of the bullhead, but also retain the critical high-speed capability and vibration of a modern crankbait. Rattle-free sound should produce fish even in dingy water with a slow retrieve.

Bullcat lures should soon be on the shelves of local tackleshops. For more information, write to Crankbait Corporation, 23500 Mercantile Road, Beachwood, Ohio 44122.

5 students to perform in concert

Five local student musicians will perform with the 103 member Michigan Youth Symphony Orchestra at 3 p.m. January 18 at Hill Auditorium in Ann Arbor.

Among the Youth Symphony members are Westland residents Dawn Gibson (violin), Katherine Kliemann (viola), Lois Luellen (cello) and Irene Garza (clarinet) along with Wayne resident Sandra Dillon (percussion).

Sponsored by the University of Michigan School of Music and Extension Service, the Youth Symphony has been the training ground for some 3000 musicians since its beginning in 1949.

There is no admission charge for the concert. Information on the Youth Symphony program can be obtained by calling 764-1405 or 349-0036.

Wayne edges Glenn for WW crown

Russell leads Zebras' comeback in 54-53 victory

Coach Steve Schwartz and Wayne Memorial's Zebras would like nothing better than to start the new year the way they left off the old one.

What the Zebras did to climax 1980 was to win a thriller from neighboring Westland John Glenn, 54-53, to capture their first Western Wayne Holiday Basketball Tournament title since 1973.

"It was a great victory for us," said Schwartz whose team qualified for the championship round by ripping Garden City West, 66-45. John Glenn made it to the finals by stopping host, Cherry Hill, in another cliffhanger. The loss ended Cherry Hill's domination of the WW tournament. The Spartans had won the previous three championships.

"It was anyone's ball game," Schwartz pointed out. "Right up to the end they had chances to win."

In fact, Wayne didn't catch the Rockets until the final three minutes of the game. The Zebras trailed after the initial quarter 14-10 and found themselves looking at a 34-24 deficit at halftime. Wayne made up the difference in the third period with a 15-6 scoring edge thanks to some fancy shooting and board work by Al Russell.

Russell came off the bench in the third period and sank three of his four baskets — mostly off of offensive rebounds and wound up the evening with 15 points. The 6-4 cager also chipped in with 20 rebounds.

With the score tied at 39-all and

The Sports Meridian

The smell of roses are beautiful

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

It was extremely difficult to get a hold of anyone in the athletic office at the University of Michigan Monday night. The Wolverines obviously and rightfully were celebrating their 23-6 victory over the University of Washington in the Rose Bowl.

LOYD CARR

Out of nowhere is right. After losing two of their first three games, no one and I mean no one, thought they'd make the trip up the Big 10 .500 marker let alone win the conference championship and string together nine consecutive victories.

The Wolverines are an incredible success story, a story that will be repeated, I'm sure, many, many times.

Carr, entrenched in the press box during the game, found himself in the spotlight for a moment during the game. The incident took place in the fourth quarter when U of M's Keith Bostic intercepted a pass and made it back to inside the Washington 9-yard line before he was brought down.

However, the officials ruled that there had been a clip and the ball was brought back. Carr obviously didn't like that call — and his facial expressions showed it, even on TV.

"Being up there and spotting I felt we had a better view of the play and the development of that play and for the life of me I didn't see the clip," Carr said. "But what can you do. You know the official has the last word."

Carr said he was very much surprised to learn that so many people were able to pick me out in the press box."

"I've never heard of a camera (TV camera) going into the coaches' box like that," Carr continued, "but when the game was over my wife told me that I was on TV. And I knew I was in trouble."

Trouble? Not really. What coach wouldn't get angry at that sort of call?

Although it was Carr's first trip to the Rose Bowl, it wasn't his first bowl game. In 1966 he quarterbacked the University of Missouri to the Sugar Bowl where they beat the University of Florida, 20-18.

Lloyd didn't see action in that finale, however. He was sidelined the week before with an injury incurred in the Oklahoma game.

Carr was instrumental in creating the powerhouses at Westland John Glenn High School during the 1974, '75 and '76 seasons. In 1975 as head coach he led the Westlanders to an 8-1 season. The Rockets' lone loss was to Livonia Franklin that year, and Franklin wound up as the inaugural Class A state champion.

He left Glenn to coach at Eastern Michigan and, after two seasons, was hired as an assistant coach at the University of Illinois. Bo grabbed him from there.

And the rest is now beautiful history.

After five unsuccessful and frustrating trips to Pasadena, California, head coach Bo Schembechler was finally celebrating and smelling roses.

A defeat this time would have probably destroyed Bo. But all of the weariness of the past, all of the criticism of not being able to win the elusive "last one" was finally put behind him.

"Bo called it 'his greatest thrill in coaching,'" said Lloyd Carr, a name that is very familiar to area football fans. Carr coached Westland John Glenn a few years back and is presently defensive backfield coach for the Wolverines. "And really I can understand why."

"And do you know that just being a part of Bo's first Rose Bowl victory is my greatest thrill. These kids came out of nowhere and won it."

For outstanding performance

Although their team finished second Plymouth Salem's Mike Sharp (11) and Mike McBride (41) displayed enough talent to earn themselves a berth on the All-Tournament team during the annual Christmas Tournament hosted recently by Livonia Churchill. On hand to present the two outstanding cagers their awards is Churchill's athletic director Larry Joiner.

Romulus hopes New Year is better

Maybe 1981 will be a better year for Romulus High cagers and first-year head coach Al Wilkerson.

Wilkerson and his Eagles hope that the New Year will brighten up what has thus far been a woeful season. Romulus has won one of its six starts, after dropping a lopsided 88-53 decision to an out-of-class, Detroit Catholic Central quintet, in their final game of 1980.

Led by 6-6 forward Greg Wendt, the Detroiters raced to a 20-6 first period advantage and for all purposes put the game out of reach before the half when they had amassed a 50-20 lead. Wendt had 30 points for less than 16 minutes of sweat.

"I don't think we're quite ready for that caliber of competition," said Coach Wilkerson who began the 1981 phase of the season Tuesday night at home to neighboring Belleville. Belleville also has its problems. The Tigers have won only one of five starts.

Wilkerson added that "the lack of experience is hurting this team. And our schedule isn't going to give us any kind of relief."

Of the Eagles' five losses, three were to teams that are ranked among the top 10 in the state.

Romulus will be at home again Friday night when the Eagles host Mt. Clemens, a team that has a 5-1 won-lost record and boasts one of the finer guards in the Mt. Clemens' area in Pete Bauman.

Vikings win tourney title

First Christmas championship in 20 years

Inkster's Vikings handed cager Coach Spencer Grant a belated Christmas gift, something he couldn't refuse.

The Vikings pulled out a 53-44 victory over DePorres to capture the St. Andrews' Christmas Basketball Invitational championship last week.

It was the first time in two decades that an Inkster High varsity team had won a Christmas championship.

"Obviously I'm elated," Coach Grant said afterward "These kids refused to quit. They hung in there and played when the going was tough. I'm proud of them. And the school is proud of them. They have done what no team has at our school for 20 years."

The game was close all the way. The two teams were deadlocked at 20-20 at halftime and also tied at 34-all at the end of the third period.

A clutch basket by Jerome Prewitt and Sophomore George Davis' eight fourth period points kept the Vikings in the battles.

With 55 seconds left in the game, DePorres went ahead 45-44, then the Vikings sank 10 unanswered points to salt away the championship and their fifth victory in six starts.

"I feel one of the reasons why we were able to win this one was the way we played on defense, and also we had only four fouls for the entire game," Grant noted. "We shot great from the free throw line as a team."

The Vikings canned 9 of 11 charities and most of those in critical situations.

Prewitt came up with another sterling shooting evening as he made 9 of 12 from the field and hit on two of two at the foul line for a game high 20 points. Teammates Joel Tucker and Davis each chipped in 10 points.

Inkster will resume Suburban Athletic Conference action Friday night at home when it'll host a perennial state power, Highland Park. Both teams enter Friday's contest with 1-0 SAC records. The Vikings disposed of Robichaud, while the Parkers turned back Rouge in their SAC debuts.

Inkster ousts St. Andrews

Inkster had the dubious honor of taking on host, Detroit St. Andrews, in the first round of the Christmas Basketball Tournament and the Vikings had a rough time snatching the victory away.

"The game was much closer than the score indicates," said Inkster coach Spencer Grant after his Vikings posted a 73-55 triumph to advance into the finals. "I feel our rebounding and Pasley's hot hands helped us win this one."

Pasley, Anthony Pasley, that is, rarely misses. He hit on 9 of 11 from the field and added two more at the foul line for a game high 20 points. He received ample assistance from Joel Tucker who tossed in 11 points and grabbed 10 rebounds.

Travis Davis proved to be a pleasant surprise for the Vikings. Davis, making his first start, chipped in 13 points and counted 11 rebounds for his day's work. The Vikings also received superb defensive performances from Derrick Wyatt and Darryl Lewis. St. Andrews kept in the game the first eight minutes as the Detroiters trailed only by two baskets, 19-15, before the Vikings outscored them 21-14 to take a 11-point lead at halftime (40-29).

Outscored 19-18 in the third period, Inkster came back and put the game out of reach with a 15-7 scoring advantage in the final eight minutes.

The Vikings hit on 55 percent of their shots from the floor (32 of 58) and picked up nine of 15 free throws.

"Another key to this victory was Jerome Prewitt's ability to hit the free man," Grant said. "He contributed eight assists."

No rest for Over 30 hockey leaders

'The pack' is putting pressure on title-hopefuls

Little Bill Trophies and the Jock Shop may be on top of their respective leagues in the Westland-Wayne Over 30 Hockey leagues, but the rest of the teams aren't letting up.

With week number 13 of a 22-game schedule in the record book, both the Berrington and Bonkowski Division teams are closing in.

At one time, Little Bills Trophies had a six-point lead in the Berrington division, but have seen their lead cut down to three points. Taste Freeze and Benny's Pizzeria are close on the leader's heels.

The Jock Shop holds on to a slim one-point lead over Johnson Carbonic in the Bonkowski Division. Jake's Lounge is three-points down.

The two leaders lost ground by battling to a 4-4 tie. Little Bills scored twice in the first period with single tallies by Don Middaugh and Dan Thomas. The Jock Shop scored once in the first period on Jerry Robertson's first of three goals in the contest. He also picked up one assist. Robertson accounted for the Jock Shop's two second period goals, while Terry Carley netted his first of two goals in the game for Little Bills. Ron Wojewski put the Jock Shop ahead 4-3 early in the third period, but with 7:13 remaining in the game, Carley carded his second and tying goal of the game. He also leads one assist. Getting two assists for Little Bills were Ken Carter and Mike Poupore, while Ron Hans, Jerry Bular and Thomas finished with one assist.

In addition to one goal scored for the Jock Shop, Wojewski contributed three assists. Bill McCusker had two assists while Jerry Townsend assisted one.

The second place team in the Bonkowski Division, Johnson Carbonic, had little trouble skating past Etronic, 6-0. Goalie Gene Machniak recorded his first shutout of the season. Ron Johnson had an excellent game scoring three goals and assisting one other. Claud Johnston had a four-point night, scoring one goal, and assisting on three others. Mike Forynski and Norm Beasley accounted for Johnson's other two goals. Forynski also picked up one assist as did John Kunz.

Jake's Lounge kept its hopes alive by edging past Futurama 4-2. Phil Cerne scored Jake's first goal midway in the second period, assisted by Jim Lear and Al Robertson. Five minutes later in the same period Tom Panackia netted the puck with Jim Leak and Mike Heals assisting, to give Jake's a 2-0 lead.

Futurama's Ed Ross started off the third period with a goal to pull within one of Jake's. Less than two minutes later, Dane Milam scored what turned out to be the game winning goal for Jake's with Ed Spontack and Panackia assisting. Lear accounted for Jake's last goal of the game, assisted by Phil Cerne.

With four minutes remaining in the game Gary Naumoff scored Futurama's second and last goal of the game.

Dave Zajac scored five goals in leading Benny's Pizzeria to a 8-4 victory over Brock Builders. Ralph Tack scored the first goal of the game early in the first period to give Brock's an early lead. Dave Zajac scored his first goal for Benny's three minutes later in the same

Perfect gift for hockey coach

Wayne wins Christmas tourney

Wayne hockey coach Jay Bleim says he couldn't have asked for a better gift. What his "Second Street Market" skaters did for the personable mentor was to win the annual Wayne Midget B Invitational Christmas Hockey Tournament.

And the local icers did in perfect fashion, skating to four consecutive victories. Wayne turned back a determined Plymouth club 4-2 in the finals to earn the coveted crown.

In the see-saw battle, Brian Brozowski, assisted by Rodney Bleim and Gary Vallance, scored at 12:30 of the first period and Wayne maintained that lead until 8:22 of the second period.

Then Plymouth tied up the game. Plymouth gained the lead at 1:07 of the second period and held onto it until 7:42 of the third period when Wayne exploded and scored three quick goals within 2:43 seconds.

Bleim put the tying goal in as he was set up beautifully by Vallance and Doug Mac. Brozowski, put in his second of the night and the game winner, 1 minute later. He was assisted by Don Erhart.

Mac scored an insurance goal at the 5 minute mark as he was helped by his brother, Brian Mac. The last two minutes of the game was critical as Wayne had only three players playing against six Plymouth players. Wayne received two penalties and Plymouth pulled their goalie. Wayne's outstanding goalie Frank Cierpial did his best, and kept the puck out of the net.

Head Coach Jay Bleim, said the winning of the tournament: "Was a real super team effort and I'm very proud of our skaters."

The Wayne Midget B's complete roster includes: Captain Jim Newland, Assistant Captains — Rodney Bleim, Keith Gilbert and Eric Mac, plus forwards — Brian Brozowski, Don Erhart, Bob Gorney, Brian Mac, Tony Thornsberry and Gary Vallance, plus defensemen — Terry Kucharski, Doug Mac and

Jeff Sandy, and Goalie Frank Cierpial. Coaches — Jay Bleim and Dennis Cichelli; Manager — Henriette Mac; Equipment Manager — Robert Bleim; and Sponsor — Dave Kubitski.

The other three games of the tournament included a victory over Trenton, 4-1. Scoring goals in that one were Gary Vallance (Brian Brozowski and Doug Mac), Eric Mac (Terry Kucharski), Bob Gorney (Brian Mac) and Brian Brozowski (Cpt. Jim Newland and Doug Mac).

Game 2 ended Wayne 8 and Taylor 3. Wayne scored the first 7 goals of the night. Newland and Brozowski each scored twice, Bleim, Eric Mac, Doug Mac and Bob Gorney each had one. Earning two assists each were Terry Kucharski, Gary Vallance, Brian Brozowski, and Keith Gilbert, additional assists were earned by Rodney Bleim, Doug Mac and Jeff Sandy.

Game 3 was also against Plymouth. But the two teams skated to a 2-2 tie.

In this game, Wayne again found itself having to come from behind to keep from losing. Doug Mac blasted an unassisted slap-shot from the blue line and scored the game opener at 6:36 of the first period.

Plymouth then scored twice to gain the lead. Then with 1:47 remaining Bob Gorney tied it up as he was assisted by Cpt. Jim Newland and Jeff Sandy.

The tournament was more than just another win. For some of the players it marked their first hockey championship.

7 ANP area cage teams have winning records

Although there are no undefeated high school basketball teams in the Associated Newspapers' area, at least seven of the 11 clubs have winning records thus far this season.

Led by Plymouth Salem and Inkster which boast 5-1 records, ANP teams have won 35 while dropping 31 this season.

Who is the highest scoring prep in the ANP area? That honor belongs to Plymouth Canton's 6-5 forward Sean Houle who has pumped in a total of 133 points in six games for a 22.2 average.

Bennie, an army veteran with a service disability, has his life complicated further by multiple sclerosis. He and his wife were without money, friends, job prospects. We helped him, over many months, to get his full VA benefits. And now, when he needs us, we make home visits.

There's nothing very unusual about this Red Cross story.

It's the kind of job we do every day. Which is why we need your support more than ever. Help us. Because the things we do really help. In your own neighborhood. And across America. And the world.

That new look on Main Street is a medical facility

New medical facility set to open in Belleville

Belleville will soon have a new medical facility to serve the needs of its residents and those of the immediate area.

Dr. Masroor Ali, who has operated a medical clinic at 265 Main St. for more than a year, will expand his quarters with a north and a south addition.

The north addition will increase the size of the waiting room and reception area, while the south addition will house the new laboratory and X-ray and physical therapy rooms.

According to Michael A. Alfaro of Mitchell Alfaro Associates, Inc. of Detroit, architects on the expansion project, the current facilities will be increased from 1,440 square feet to 3,300 square feet. The Detroit-based architectural-engineering firm has directed the development of many medical facilities in south-eastern Michigan, including Harper-Webber Hospital in Detroit, Botsford Hospital in Farmington, and Beyer Hospital in Ypsilanti.

Dr. Ali, who closed his Ypsilanti office last May, said he is considering the addition at a later date of emergency medical facilities at his Belleville clinic.

Dr. Ali is assisted by a staff of five persons: Mrs. Barbara Steer, physician's assistant; Pam Canniff and Rita Daniels, receptionists; Judy Cook, nurse; and Gay Holshoe, office manager.

Hours that the new clinic will be open will be announced at a later date, said Dr. Ali.

For many years, the office at 265 Main St. was occupied by Dr. Phillip Grillo, who retired shortly before Dr. Ali moved in at that location.

Commissioners told 'to bite the bullet'

Pay hikes remain a 'hot issue'

Although the majority of Wayne County Commissioners voted against a $1500 pay increase for County elected officials—including themselves—they were three votes short of the necessary 18 when the matter was considered Dec. 29.

Acting on recommendation of the County Officers Compensation Commission, the Board voted 15-1 with two abstentions, insufficient to reject the first raise since 1977 for themselves, three County auditors, the County Clerk, Drain Commissioner, Treasurer, Prosecuting Attorney, Register of Deeds and Sheriff.

State legislation which authorized the Compensation Commission also requires a two-thirds majority vote of the Board of Commissioners to reject a salary recommendation. On the 27-member Board of Commissioners, 18 votes are needed.

The raise is effective Jan., 1982, but already several commissioners have said they will not accept the increase or will donate it to charity of apply it to public-service projects.

During the meeting, Commissioner Arthur M. Carter urged defeat of the raise, and after the vote said he will return the money to the County general fund. "We are in a financial crisis, a depression-like economy," Carter declared. "Especially in this Christmas season and, as leaders of the County, we should establish a leadership pattern and reject the raise on principle, set an example."

"I'm asking my colleagues to deny this raise and bite the bullet," He said that "Other County employees still face payless paydays," a reference to the County's necessity to borrow $20 million this year to negate cash flow problems."

Carter said he imagined no problem with commissioners accepting the raise and applying it to non-profit causes if they choose. He pointed out too that members of the Detroit City Council and Legislature were recently given raises which some have said they will not accept.

Immediately after the meeting, Commissioner Paul G. Citkowski, also from Detroit, sent a letter to the County Corporation Counsel asking for a "legal opinion and procedure to follow" for return of the money to the general fund. "I definitely will not accept the money," he stated.

Emphasizing that he has no other income or outside activity that is more important, Citkowski added, "Not that I couldn't use the $1500. My creditors might take it a step further and say that I need the $1500. As a matter of fact, I think I am the only Commissioner with bodyguards—my creditors don't want anything to happen to me," Commissioner Citkowski joked.

"Everybody wants and needs more money in this depression area—both economically and emotionally; people are laid off or are without jobs, inflation is increasing and industry is moving away—this is the time when public servants should feel privileged to make a sacrifice."

Another strong opponent against the raise at the meeting was Commissioner Edgar L. Harris, from Taylor. "I plead with you to reject the raise," he said. "I cannot sit here and vote to approve a raise when during budget sessions we voted against raises for other employees and for reduction of public services."

Still another critic of the raise was Commissioner Mary E. Dumas, from Livonia, although she indicated the raise was deserving. She pointed out that most public officials, including President Carter, "perhaps receive one-tenth the salaries of many professional athletes." She continued:

"Our jobs don't end at night. Our schedules prohibit recreation such as bowling and square dancing; our after-hours activity is spent in dedication of buildings and other public service.

"The $1500 would be well-earned, but I object because I think this economically presents a bad time to accept a raise."

Commissioner Delores Bennett said she will accept the raise, and was urged so by her constituents, but would spend the money on scholarships for young people and other public causes. "I've listened to both sides of the argument, and I'm swayed by arguments of my constituents who tell me to take the money and use it for youth."

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND CHAPTER IV, ARTICLE 1, OF THE OFFICIAL ZONING ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF ROMULUS TO PROVIDE FOR THE 'DEFINITION' OF CAMPGROUNDS AND TO PROVIDE FOR THE 'SPECIAL APPROVAL OF USE' OF CAMPGROUNDS

WHEREAS: The City of Romulus deems it in the best interest of the City and its citizens to amend the Official Zoning Ordinance of the City of Romulus;

THE CITY OF ROMULUS ORDAINS:

SECTION I. Short Title: Campground Regulations

SECTION II. Chapter IV, Article 1, of the Romulus Zoning Ordinance is hereby amended to add Section 16.03 (c), Section 16A.03 (b), Section 17.03 (c), and Section 16B.03 (c); as follows

Section

16A.03 (b),
16B.03 (b),
16.03 (c),
17.03 (c)

Special Approval of Use: Campgrounds shall be subject to the following standards:

(1) All requirements of Public Act 368 of 1978 as administered by the Michigan Department of Public Health and the Wayne County Health Department shall be met.

(2) Minimum area of land for the use shall be four (4) acres; such use shall be on a hard-surfaced major or secondary thoroughfare.

(3) Each site in a campground designated for camping use shall be occupied by not more than one (1) family or one (1) camping unit comprised of not more than eight (8) persons and shall be of a size and arrangement to provide for a recreational vehicle or tent. Each site shall be 1,200 square feet in area and setback seventy-five (75) feet from any public right-of-way and property line. A group camping area may be provided but shall be restricted to camping by organized groups such as camping clubs, church groups, 4-H clubs, Boy Scouts or Girl Scouts. Every four (4) persons shall be the equivalent of a campsite with the group camping area containing a minimum of 1,200 square feet for each equivalent campsite.

(4) A common use area shall be provided within the campgrounds at a ratio of not less than six hundred (600) square feet of such area per each site. This common area shall be developed by seeding, landscaping, picnic tables, barbecue stands, and passive recreation equipment, (e.g., swings, horseshoe pits, shuffleboard courts) for the general use of all occupants of the campground.

(5) Each site in a campground shall have direct access to a dust-free roadway of at least twenty-four (24) feet in width for two-way traffic and twelve (12) feet in width for one-way traffic. Sites specifically designated and only used for rent camping need not have direct vehicular access to a road, but shall be provided with adequately cleared and marked pedestrian pathway access which originates at a point on a road within two hundred (200) feet of a designated parking area.

(6) Each campground shall provide vehicular parking for occupants and guests. Guest parking shall be provided within four hundred (400) feet of the site it is intended to serve. (Location of parking areas that serve sites specifically designated only for tent camping shall comply with (5) above.) Parking shall not be allowed on any roadway. Guest parking shall be provided in the basis of one (1) space for every two (2) sites. Occupant parking shall be provided on each site at the ratio of one (1) space per site. Parking lots and spaces shall be constructed in accordance with Section 6.03, except that the Planning Commission may waive the requirement for hard-surfacing.

(7) A service building for campground occupants containing water closets, lavatories, showers, and electricity shall be provided at a size no less than five hundred (500) square feet. The number of toilets, urinals, lavatories, and showers shall be provided in accordance with the schedule promulgated by the State Department of Health regarding such service buildings.

(8) Connection shall be made to a public water system where available and accessible as determined by the Planning Commission. If such connection is not available and accessible, water which shall be obtained from a source approved by the County Health Department shall be provided. Connection shall be made to a public sewer system where available and accessible as determined by the Planning Commission. Where a public sewer system is not available, a sewage disposal system approved by the County Health Department shall be provided.

(9) At least one (1) facility shall be provided where recreational units equipped with fresh water storage tanks and sewage holding tanks can be serviced. A campground catering solely to recreational vehicles that connect to the campground's water and sewer system shall be exempt from this requirement.

(10) No commercial uses shall be permitted to operate on the site, except that a convenient goods shopping building servicing only campground occupants may be provided on a campground containing eighty (80) or more sites. Signage for such commercial use is prohibited.

(11) Fences and greenbelts appropriate for the site may be required by the Planning Commission.

SECTION III. Definitions. Section 2.01 of the Romulus Zoning Ordinance is hereby amended to include w(2) as follows:

w(2) CAMPGROUNDS: A family recreation-oriented facility for the overnight or short-term parking of recreational vehicles and installation of tents for the establishment of temporary living quarters. May also be known as a travel trailer park.

SECTION IV. SEVERABILITY. Should any section, clause or provisions of this ordinance be declared to be invalid, the same shall not affect the validity of this ordinance as a whole, or any part thereof, other than the part so declared to be invalid.

SECTION V. EFFECTIVE DATE. This ordinance shall take immediate effect upon publication in the official newspaper.

I, Leonard J. Folmar, Clerk for the City of Romulus, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of an ordinance adopted by the Romulus City Council at its regular meeting held on the 2nd day of December, 1980.
